It was certainly a party befitting her status as the Queen of Motown when Diana Ross celebrated her 75th birthday in Los Angeles recently. From the star-studded guest list and the sparkles and sequins, to the I'm Coming Out singer being serenaded by the one and only Queen Bey – the OTT soiree certainly proved Miss Ross still reigns supreme over Hollywood. We're bowing down, Diana!

I'm finally on Team Jen

A few weeks ago my colleague Nikita called me "the Jennifer Aniston of the office". Why? I pretty much eat the same thing for lunch every day, just as Jen stuck to the same salad during her 10-year stint on Friends.

At first I was offended. I've always found Jen a little blah and I was firmly on Team Ange during that whole love triangle saga with Brad. But after reading this week's story about Jen's new approach to dating (page 28), I've jumped on board the Aniston express. Soz, Ange!

Yep, after years of being hung up on the same guys and waiting around, hoping they'll commit, "Poor Jen" is giving her exes the flick and saying "yes" to dates with new men. Realising that I've been doing the same when it comes to my own love life, I've decided it's time I change my approach, too. So thanks for the wake-up call Jen – and watch out Sydney gays... This queen's single and coming to mingle!

News in a Flash!

While publicly J.Lo seems unruffled by the rumours, insiders say she's demanding an ironclad prenup

J.Lo warns A-Rod

'CHEAT AGAIN & YOU'LL PAY!'

After yet another cheating scandal, J.Lo lays down the law for her hubby-to-be...

Jennifer Lopez may have said "Yes!" to Alex Rodriguez's proposal, but there's a big catch before she's ready to walk down the aisle to him!

"Before they marry, Jennifer wants him to sign an ironclad prenup with a cheating clause to protect herself if he betrays her," an insider explains.

Alex, 43, has been accused of straying multiple times during their two-year romance, including a recent allegation by Playboy model Zoe Gregory.

Uh-huh, last week Zoe claimed A-Rod blew up her phone with texts asking for a threesome, and alleged that he sent over lewd snaps of himself. He also demanded to meet in person, just weeks before getting down on one knee and asking J.Lo to marry him.

"Jen is amazing and she doesn't deserve this," Zoe, 44, shared with The Sun.

"While getting ready to marry her, he was asking me for sex videos, demanding we hook up and asking me to make arrangements with other girls. If he is doing this right up until the point he is proposing to her it is just not fair."

According to Zoe, all this started on Boxing Day last year (which the former baseball player spent with J.Lo and their blended family) and stopped in late January.

"He was being like a dirty dog. He seemed like a needy, horny bloke," she blasted. "J.Lo needs to wake up. I feel bad for her, and I don't think it's right."

Of course, this isn't the first rumour of infidelity to follow the couple's engagement.

Hours after their proposal was made public, A-Rod was accused of having an affair with the ex-wife of a fellow former Yankees player Jose Canseco. However, the woman in question, Jessica Canseco, later came out in A-Rod's defence and squashed the rumours.

Even so, while J.Lo, 49, has chosen to turn a blind eye and not believe the rumours, she still wants to make sure there are no indiscretions in the future – especially after they tie the knot!

"She wants some assurance about their future," tells the insider of the singer, whose second marriage to Cris Judd in 2001 reportedly cost her $9.3 million. "She wants this marriage to last and loves Alex. But with three divorces under her belt, she's aware that sometimes the fairytale ending just doesn't happen."

With Alex worth an estimated $423 million and Jennifer's net worth sitting at a whopping $564 million, a prenup is no doubt a good decision for the pair.

"Given their histories, it's no wonder they're keen to protect their fortunes," tells another insider. "This really will be the biggest prenup Hollywood has ever seen."

And while A-Rod is said to think his future wife is being ridiculous about including a cheating clause in the prenup, "he's willing to prove his commitment to her by signing it," adds the first insider. "He won't let it get in the way of their marriage."

Smart move, A-Rod!

SKINNY-MIMI NO MORE!

NOW

She's smack bang in the middle of her Caution World Tour, but fans have got a word of caution for Mariah Carey – you may want to lay off the sweets, dahling!

After reportedly receiving secret gastric sleeve surgery in late 2017 and subsequently dropping a staggering amount of weight, recent snaps of Mariah on a night out with beau Bryan Tanaka suggest the 49-year-old songstress has started stacking it right back on again!

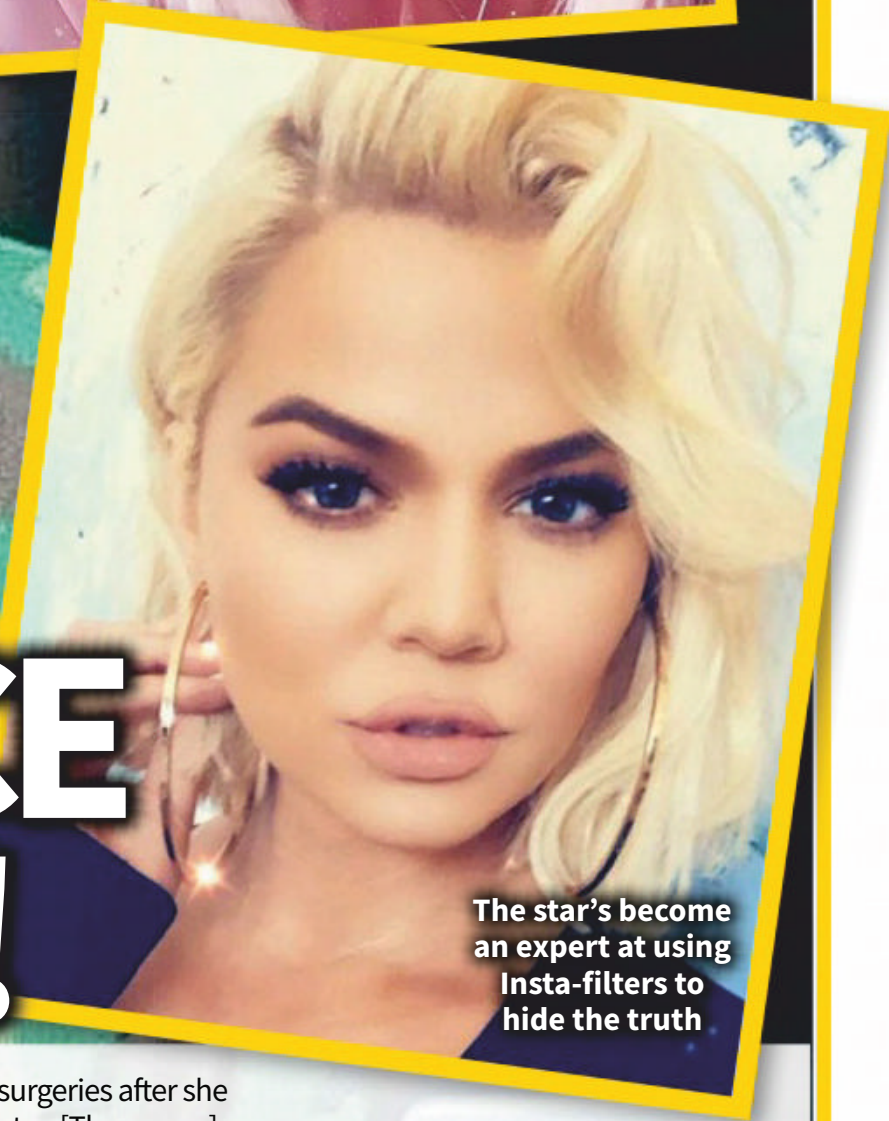

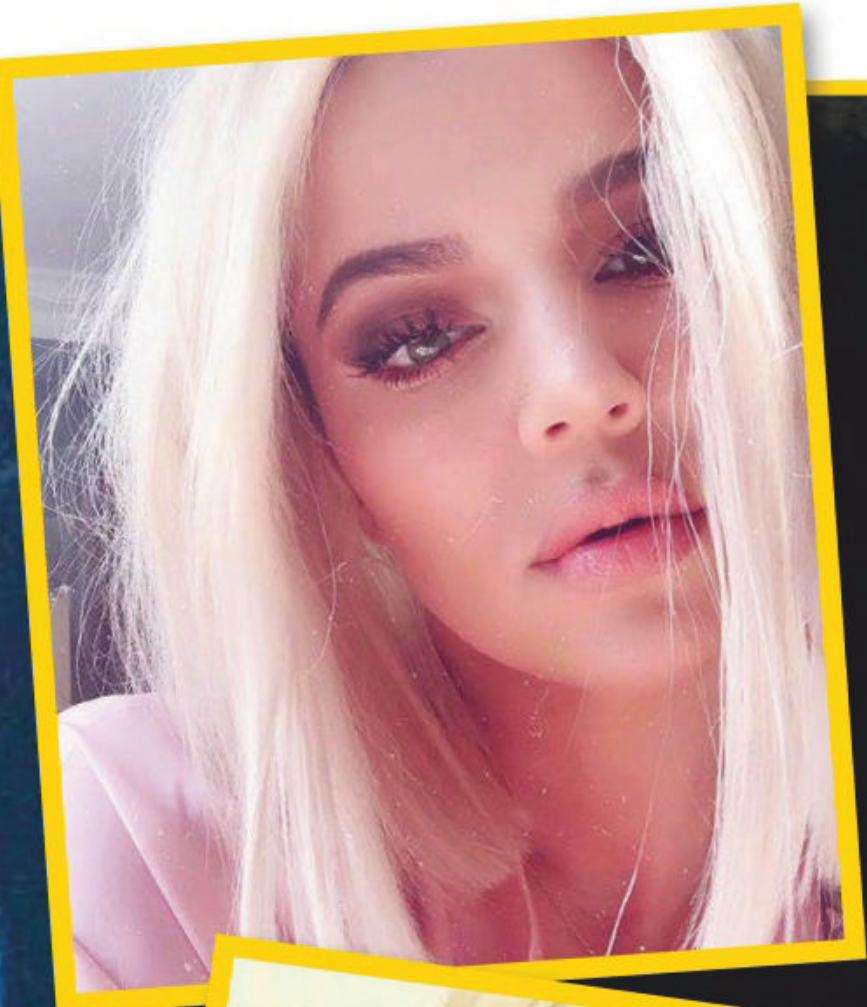

"Gotta say, she looks way better curvy. Embrace it, girl!" one online commentator wrote.

The star has had issues with her weight in the past, reportedly putting on over 32kg while pregnant with twins Monroe and Moroccan back in 2011.

And while Mariah worked hard to shed the pounds, she says she's always tried to avoid looking at the number on the scales.

"I never weighed myself," she shared. "I'm a big-boned girl, I'm tall, and so I always weigh more."

Might need to try out that "bleak diet" again, eh Mimi?!

Oh Koko, what have you done?!

S.O.S!

KHLOE'S FACE IS MELTING!

The star's become an expert at using Insta-filters to hide the truth

Her family are sounding the alarm bells over her never-ending facial tweaks

Kim Kardashian's butt is her most famous feature – but sister Khloe may soon be famous as the woman with no features! Khloe is suffering from “Frankenstein face” due to non-stop surgery, and pals fear her mug could cave in!

“She can’t keep getting these mini-face lifts and expect her bone structure to stay the same,” frets an insider. “Anyone can tell by looking at her that she’s gone way too far, but Khloe can’t stop. She’s become an expert with Photoshopping and filters, plus she wears an obscene amount of make-up. But when she’s alone in front of the mirror at night, it’s a scary sight, and her loved ones are worried.”

The evidence is there for all to see – and the cost is reported to be approaching half-a-million dollars!

“Khloe helped herself to a slew of nip/tuck surgeries after she dumped Tristan [Thompson] – fillers, Botox, butt injections, laser resurfacing and lip filler,” reveals the spy. “The receipts are piling up, but she’s not worried. She’s talking of getting a boob lift next.”

It’s easy to see that she’s gone overboard, and even Kim is telling her this isn’t a good look! Yet it’s no secret that Khloe, 34, has been obsessed with her looks ever since she fronted Revenge Body in 2017.

“She has had a lot of [work done],” shares the source. “As soon as it starts to wear off, she gets more. There’s a genuine worry that Khloe will destroy her looks – but she doesn’t want to be reminded of the naïve girl she used to be.”

She’s trapped in a vicious cycle – the freakier her face gets, the more visits she pays to the surgeon.

“Khloe won’t listen to anyone,” says the spy. “They’re concerned that once she finally realises what she’s doing, it’ll be too late.”

“Khloe has been through a lot lately,” continues the insider. “It makes sense that she would turn to cosmetic work to try and give her an ego boost, and make her feel better about herself. But she could ruin her face forever!”

Nicole's tears

'I'VE LOST BELLA TO SCIENTOLOGY'

One of the big questions about Tom Cruise's Scientology has always been his kids' involvement. His daughter Bella has now answered that by waxing lyrical about the church – leaving mum Nicole Kidman devastated!

"Seeing Bella becoming a poster girl for Scientology will break Nicole's heart," an insider tells NW. "She hoped that Bella moving to London and seeming so focused on her clothing line meant that she wasn't so involved in the religion. But this is proof she was wrong."

In a letter published on a Scientology blog, Bella, 26, described taking part in a church auditing internship as "incredible" and "what I had been searching for". But that will be a bitter pill for her mum to swallow.

"Nicole's strained relationship with her daughter is because of Scientology, and the more devoted to the church Bella becomes, the less chance there is to repair things," sighs the source. "Nicole will be devastated if that happens. Losing her little girl forever would be her worst nightmare..."

Chris has consciously uncoupled with his stalker!

Chris's

STALKER HELL!

Chris Martin has been forced to take out a restraining order after becoming increasingly concerned over a crazed stalker who reportedly believes she is in a relationship with him and has shown up to his house on multiple occasions. Scary!

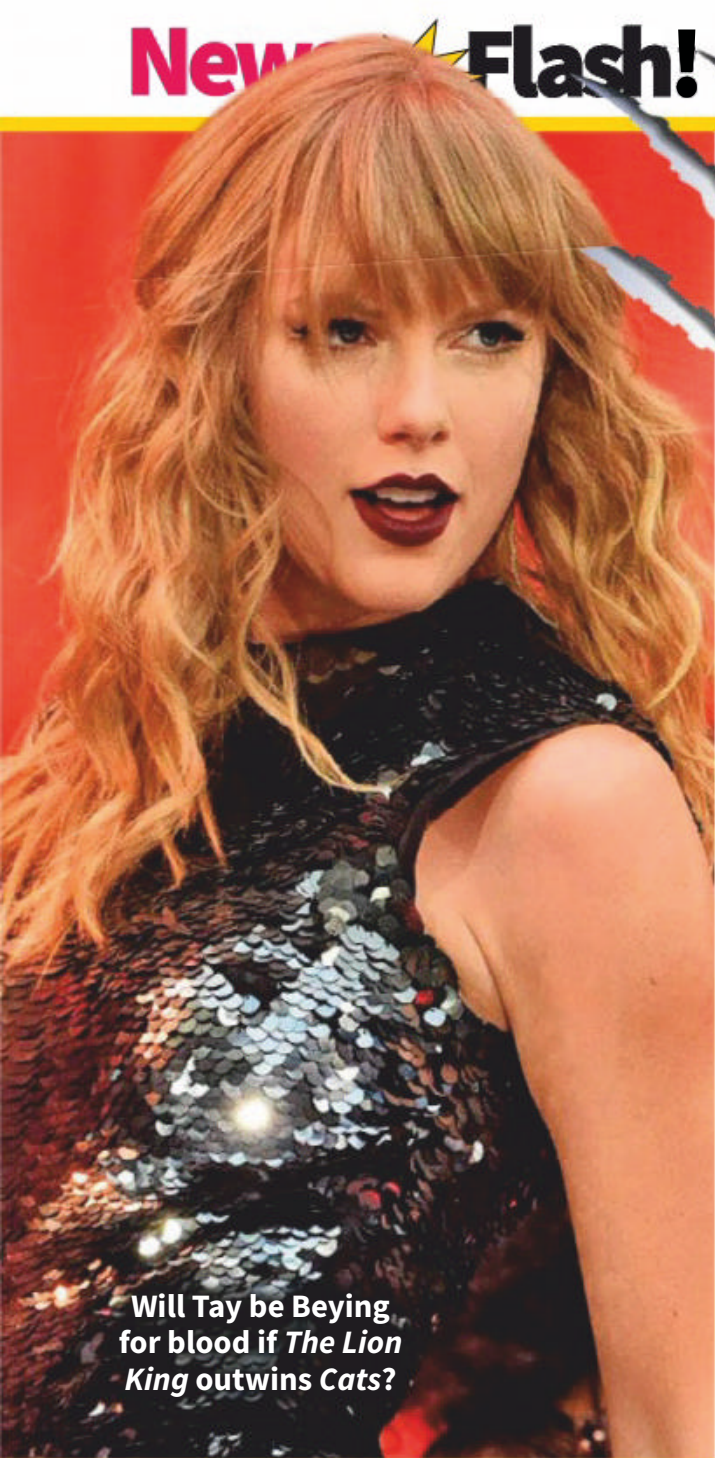

The Coldplay singer, 42, claims the woman has left notes at his residence which allude to death, suicide and his children – daughter Apple, 14, and son Moses, 12 – who he shares with ex-wife Gwyneth Paltrow. Chris also alleges the letters include "delusions" about what she finds to be a "romantic relationship" with the musician.

In his request for the restraining order, Chris included a statement from his security guard backing up his accusations, and extensive details of his stalker's previous criminal record.

Chris also makes clear that the stalker is a complete "stranger", and he fears for his family's safety, listing his two kids and girlfriend Dakota Johnson as those who need to be protected. The woman has been ordered to stay at least 91 metres away until a court hearing scheduled in April.

Will Tay be Beying for blood if The Lion King outwins Cats?

Taylor & Bey's 2020 OSCARS CATFIGHT

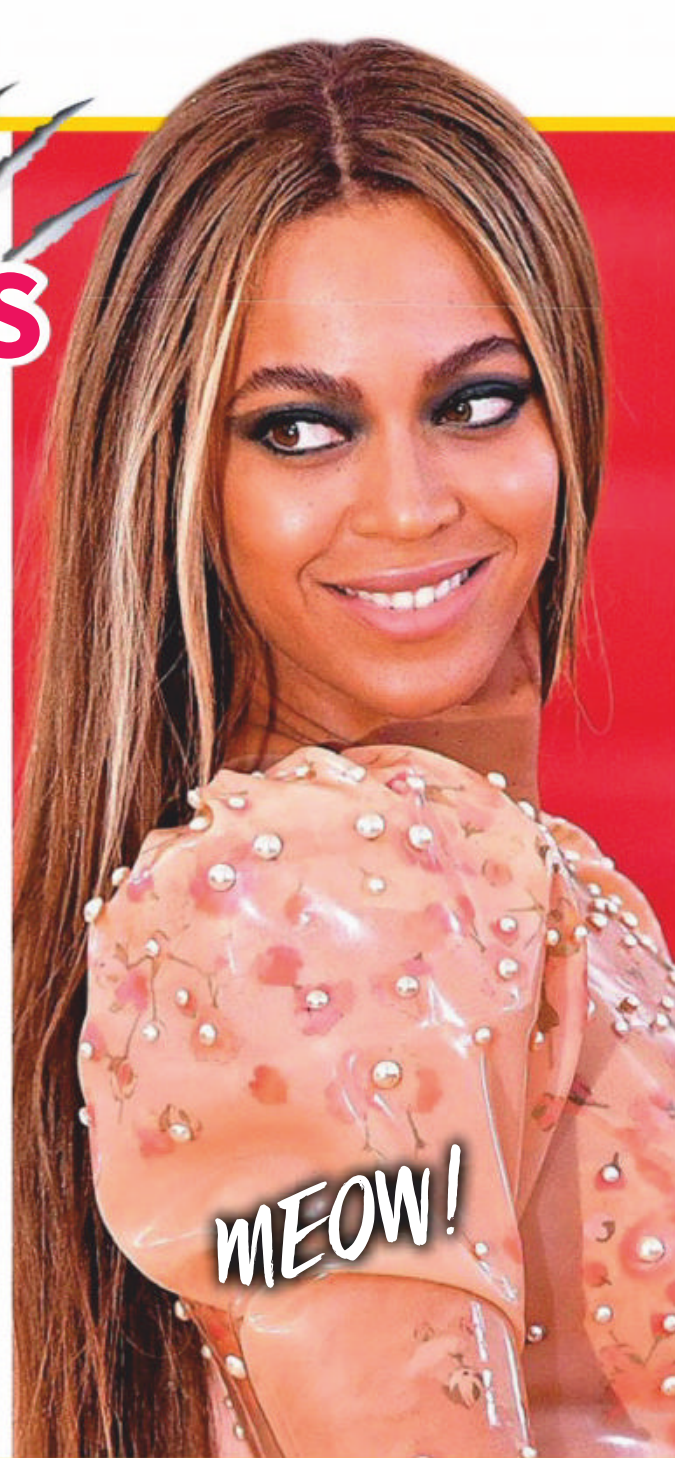

Can you feel the love tonight? Because guests at next year's Academy Awards may not be able to! Taylor Swift and Beyonce are about to go head-to-head with their respective upcoming movie musicals Cats and The Lion King – and the fight for Oscars gold could turn the biggest names in the music world into bitter enemies!

"There's a lot of rivalry between Beyonce and Taylor," a source tells NW. "As the big names attached to each project, they'll be the main focus come awards season."

While Beyonce, 37, is penning a new song for the Disney remake (in which she also voices Simba's best friend Nala), insiders reckon that Tay-Tay, 29, has been "hyping up" her demanding feline role at every event she's recently attended alongside beau Joe Alwyn.

"Both of them are desperate for their film to be a success at the Oscars, so they'll be spearheading their respective campaigns," shared the tipster. "It's as though they've identified each other as a big threat to their movie's chances of ultimate success."

Will the Cats' claws be out? Will the Lion King roar? One thing is for sure – no-one's going to be a kitten in this fight!

Mel & Geri

TWO REALLY DID BECOME ONE!

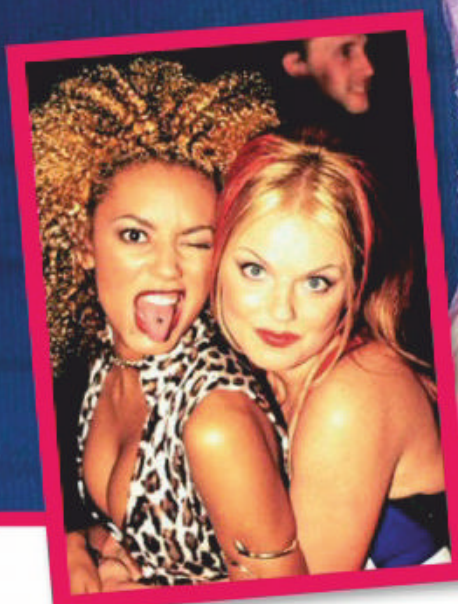

With the Spice Girls reunion around the corner, it seems two of the ladies have already shared a union – in bed! Yep, Mel B, 43, reckons she got up close and scary with Geri Horner, 46, admitting on Piers Morgan's Life Stories that she and her bandmate had a sexy one-off encounter back in the day. And that came as news to Mel C, too, who was sitting in the audience and looked agape!

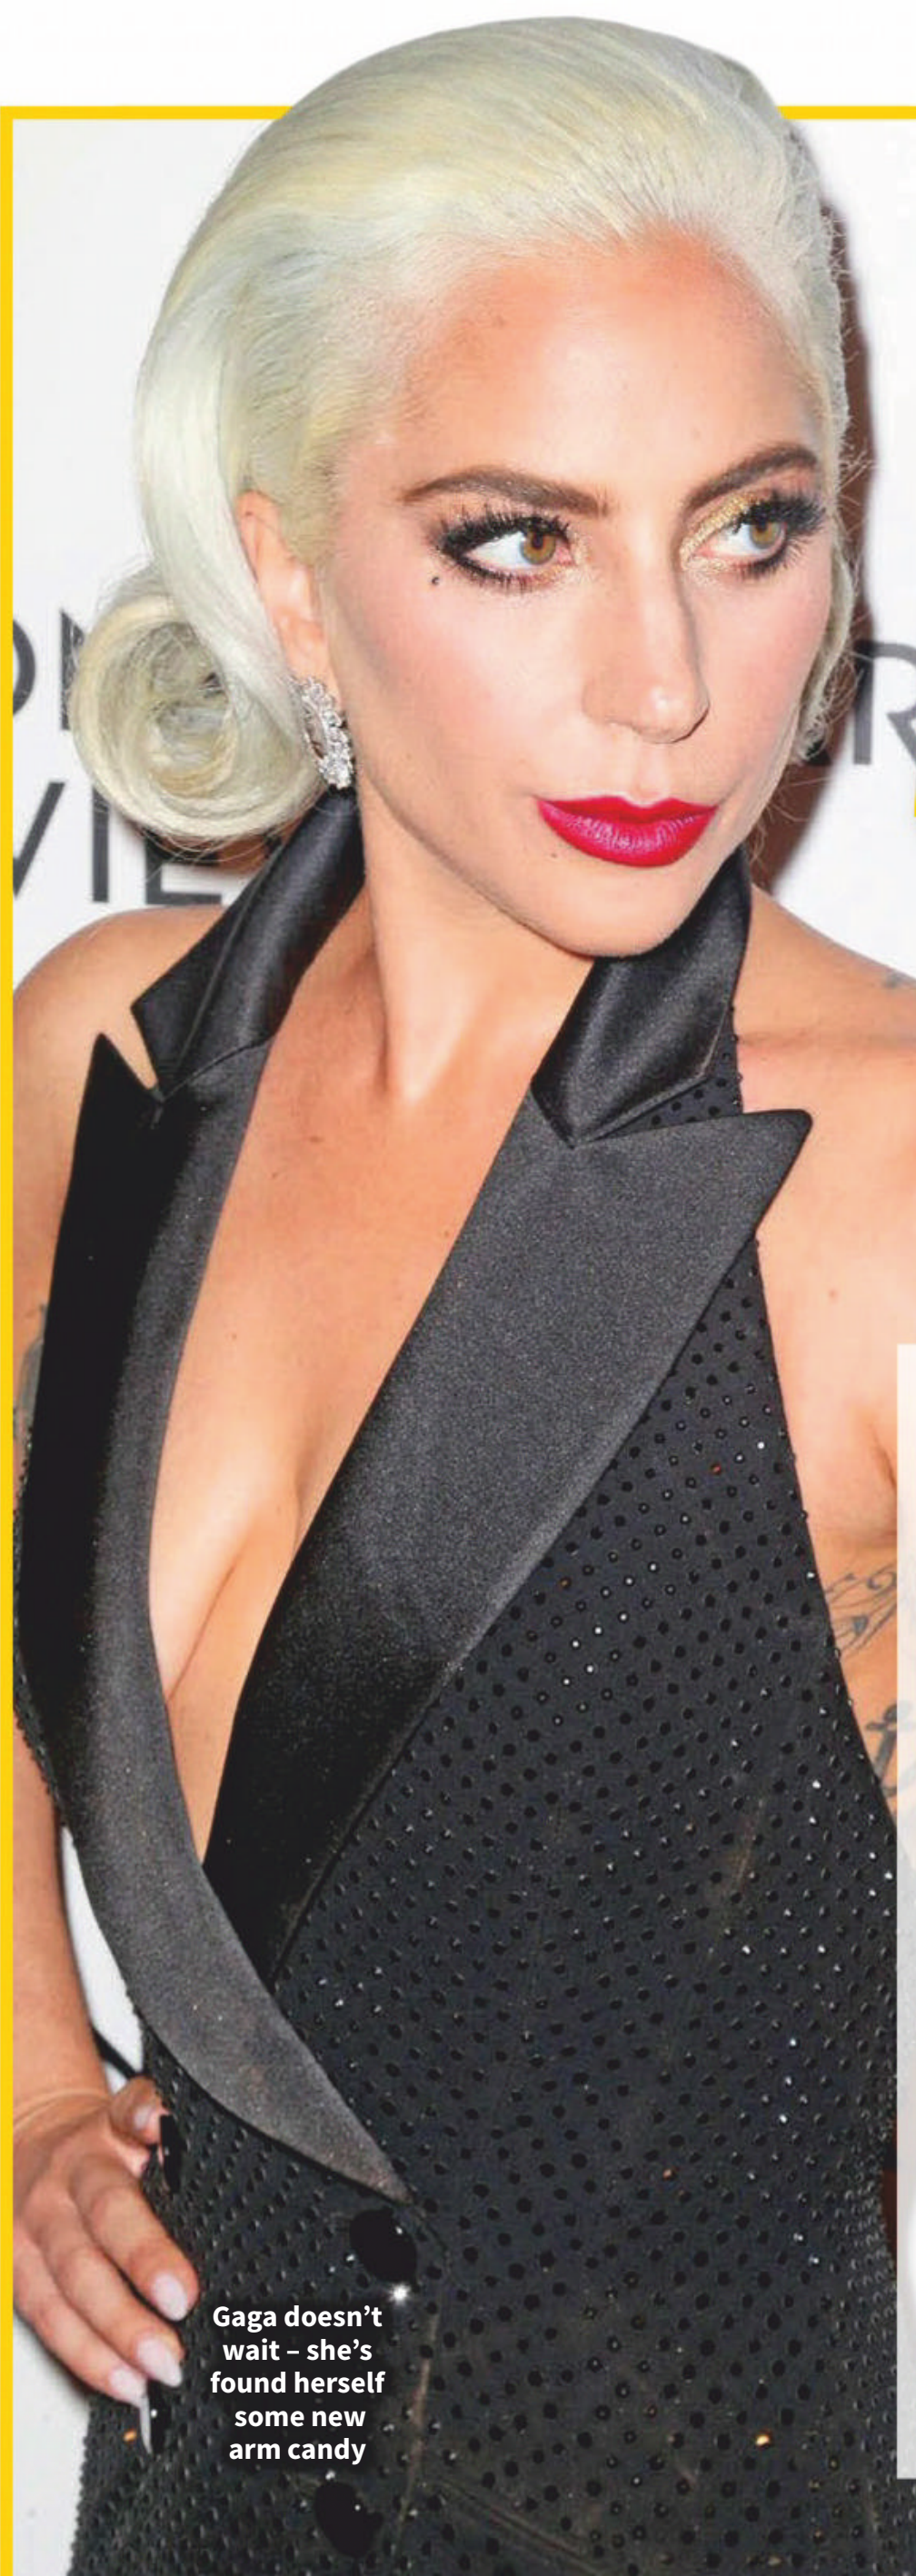

"[Geri's] going to hate me for this because she's all posh in her country house and her husband, but it's a fact," said Mel B, according to the Daily Mail. "It just happened and we just giggled at it and that was it."

Well, she got the hate part right, as Geri is reportedly furious over Mel spilling all, and is worried how her hubby Christian will react.

What on earth made Mel, ahem, holler about it now – and will she be left pleading with Geri to "say you'll be there" on the tour?

Things got spicy between Geri and Mel back in the day

Gaga doesn't wait – she's found herself some new arm candy

Bradley and Jeremy starred in American Hustle together

Gaga's revenge romance

DATING BRADLEY'S BEST MATE!

Is Gaga really hot for Jeremy – or is the actor merely a pawn in her love game?

Looks like you missed your chance, Bradley Cooper – because Lady Gaga has gone off with one of your best mates to show you what you're missing! Yep, Gaga has decided that a star is bored and lined herself up a new lover in actor Jeremy Renner.

"She's been going to Jeremy's house a lot and staying into the early morning hours," spills a spy. "Gaga's impressed with him. He might come across as arrogant, but she thinks he's highly intelligent and interesting. She also feels he's a great dad and loves the way he dotes on his daughter, Ava [five]."

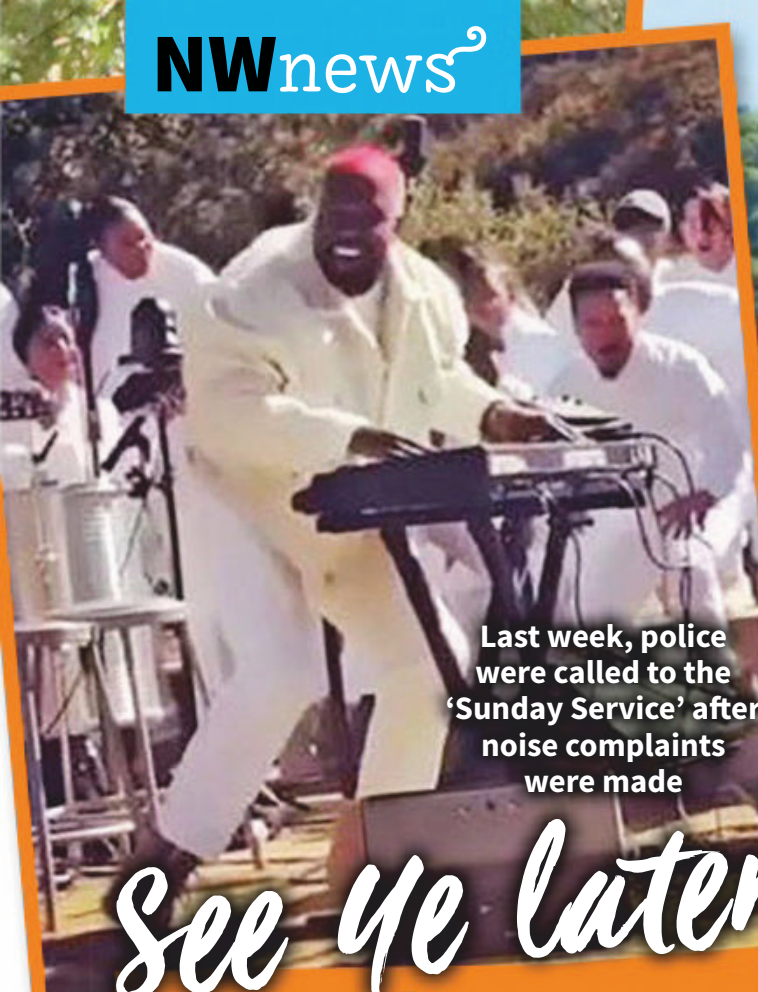

Well, did Bradley think Gaga was going to just hang around? The pair were the subject of speculation as to the nature of their relationship after they took the lead roles in A Star Is Born and seemed to let the story spill over into their own lives – professing their love for each other at every turn. Then there was that performance of Shallow at the Oscars, which no-one could ignore.

Since then, Bradley, 44, and partner Irina Shayk seem to have rebooted their romance, leaving Gaga, 32 – who recently broke off her engagement to Christian Carino – free to see someone new.

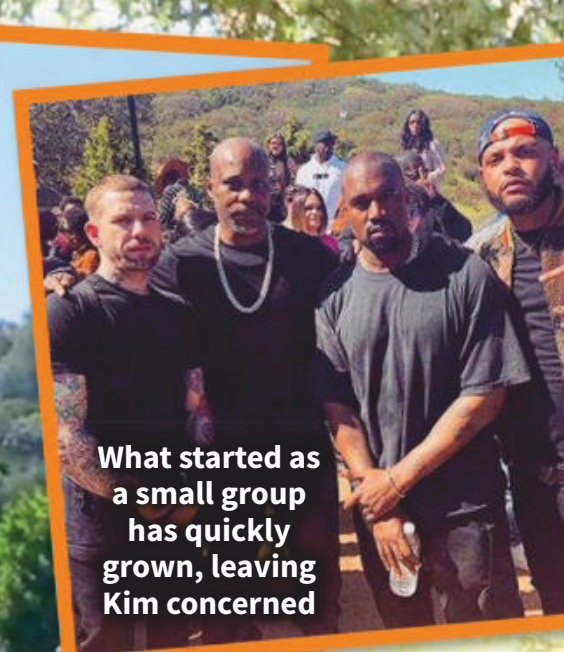

The singer's pals say they're surprised at how quickly Jeremy, 48, has begun referring to Gaga as his "girlfriend". He also showed up in the VIP section of her Vegas show and was there when she gave an impromptu performance of Fly Me To The Moon at an LA bar. Still, the audience couldn't help but notice a touch of melancholy in her voice as she crooned the Sinatra hit.

"There's little doubt who she was thinking about while singing," said one source. "Gaga really loves Bradley. She's just frustrated he isn't free of the ties that bind him – Irina, mainly – and seems unwilling to change his life. Those who know Gaga best believe Jeremy is going to emerge the winner here..."

Kanye's been 'preaching at the people who come to the gatherings', tells an insider

Last week, police were called to the 'Sunday Service' after noise complaints were made

What started as a small group has quickly grown, leaving Kim concerned

See ye later...

Kim flees Kanye's kult!

The reality star is ready to run from her hubby's crazy religious antics – and she's taking the kids with her!

It's become a weekly tradition, every Sunday – accompanied by her kids and family – Kim Kardashian heads to Kanye West's new church where she shares video upon video of the gospel choir singing his songs. And while you'd be forgiven for thinking that Kim is completely on board with her husband's new religious venture, NW has learned the 38-year-old is concerned that the concept has taken a terrifying turn – and she's making a run for it!

Yep, insiders say that Ye's "Sunday Services" have taken on "cult-like" proportions and are causing mountains of trouble in their marriage, with Kim concerned the rapper, 41, is on the verge of losing the plot. "Kim's worried that Kanye really believes he has the power to heal like he's God or something, and she wants out of this church and maybe even the marriage unless Kanye sees reason," spills an insider.

"He tells her that he wants to take the spiritually vacant by the hand and fill them up with his message of light and peace. He seems to think he can heal his congregation with music and a touch on the shoulder," continues the source. "Kanye promises a truly religious experience to everyone he meets. He's even given out his 'Book of Yeezus' that includes passages from the Bible and changes every mention of God to 'Kanye'. He had thousands of copies printed. Anyone would be freaked out by that kind of thing. Kim has tried to be supportive but she's really disturbed by this."

BREAKING POINT

In a trailer for the new season of Keeping Up With The Kardashians, Kim is left at 'breaking point' after Kanye suggests moving to Chicago. Sounds like trouble in paradise to us!

'Being a mum is the most important job I have,' Kim says

Kanye's been holding his gatherings in a secret location in California, and everyone from Katy Perry and Orlando Bloom to Busy Philipps and Courtney Love have attended, along with Kim's mum Kris Jenner and sisters Kourtney, Khloe, Kendall and Kylie.

"In the beginning it was just Kanye, Kim, her family and a few musician pals, now it's grown to more than 50 followers," dishes the insider. "Kim helped to recruit the celebs by promising they'd be 'lifted', but things have clearly gotten out of hand."

Word is Kanye's also trying to get their kids – North, five, Saint, three, and Chicago, one – more involved too. "Kanye takes centre stage but he's grooming North to be a type of assistant pastor," tells an insider. "Everyone adores North. She's so cute. He'll start rapping with her during service and the 'oohs' and 'ahhs' will start to rise from the crowd."

Naturally, this has left Keeks a little uneasy. "Kim is starting to feel it's no longer safe to have her kids around, especially after their newborn son arrives, which will be in a matter of weeks," explains the insider. "She's stopped going to services, making one excuse after the other. She's definitely weighing up her next move."

Likely, Kanye is yet to notice his wife pulling away – with the rapper said to be transfixed by making his new project a success. "He's got [his followers] in his pocket and he's trying to draw in the troubled youth in Hollywood too," tells the source. "He's looking for his disciples."

Insiders tell NW that the couple's marriage has been up and down for a while, and Kim has even reportedly got divorce papers locked away at her lawyers' office. "She hoped this church would be a way to bring them together spiritually and physically but it's making her feel more and more alone," adds the insider. "She doesn't want to be part of a weird cult or become the next Katie Holmes. Once the fourth baby is born, she might be out the door!" When you leave Kim, don't look back! ■

'SHE'S WEIGHING UP HER NEXT MOVE'

IS NORTH BEING BRAINWASHED?!

Attending the weekly gospel sessions with her fam, North West has been living it up at the church shindigs. Dancing like there's no-one watching, Kim and Kanye's first-born has been taking her place up front and centre stage – right next to her daddy dearest – leaving some fans (and Kim!) worried that she's getting a little too involved. "North looks like she's really into it... a little too into it, if you ask me," shared one concerned fan. "Looks like she's been brainwashed by her father," shared another. Yikes!

Little Nori's a free spirit when she gets on stage

'I love kids,' says Hailey. Lucky, 'cause she's on track to getting one of her own!

Baby, baby, baby

Hailey's got A BUN IN THE OVEN

Biebs always wanted to be a DILF by the age of 25 – and it looks like he's getting his wish!

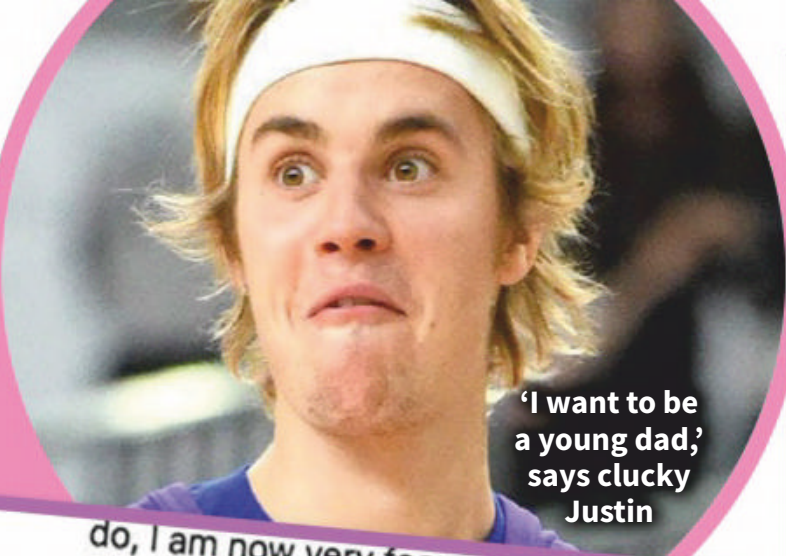

When Hailey Bieber grabbed froyo with her mother-in-law Pattie Mallette in LA on March 24, she was spotted placing a hand tenderly on her tummy. And just one day later, her hubby Justin Bieber declared he's taking some time bump!

'The couple wants a few kids and their friends wouldn't be surprised if that happened soon,' a source tells ET

oh! ot N EN

'I want to be a young dad,' says clucky Justin do, I am now very focused on repairing some of the deep rooted issues that I have as most of us have, so that I don't fall apart, so that I can sustain my marriage and be the father I want to be. Music is very important to me but Nothing comes out from touring and working on himself to "sustain my marriage and be the father I want to be".

So it's no surprise that the rumour mill has gone into overdrive with speculation that a Bieber baby is on the way!

"With the way Hailey was cradling her stomach, it definitely seemed like she could be expecting," tells an insider. "She and Justin both want kids, and now that they're married, it wouldn't be a surprise if they were finally starting a family."

But while they both hoped to become parents some day, the timing couldn't be any worse. On the back of all the baby buzz, NW can reveal that Jailey are desperately trying to save their shaky union for the sake of the unborn child!

Justin, 25, has been receiving treatment for depression and admits he has "been struggling a lot" and "feeling super disconnected and weird". And although Hailey has done everything she can to keep their relationship afloat, the 22-year-old has confessed that their marriage isn't always smooth sailing. And the rocky romance hasn't been helped by the rumours doing the rounds that Justin just can't shake his feelings for his ex, Selena Gomez.

However, Justin – obviously keen to show his devotion to Hailey ahead of welcoming a child together – did his best to shoot down the whispers that he's still hung up on Sel, by blasting back at a troll on Insta on March 26.

"I absolutely loved and love Selena. She will always hold a place in my heart, but I am head over heels [sic] in love with my wife and she is absolutely the BEST THING that has ever happened to me period," the singer wrote. "Hailey is my Bride period."

While many worry that their marriage (and family plans) are off to a rocky start and that the model should cut her losses, sources says Hails would see walking away as a last resort – especially now there's possibly a baby on the way!

"She's always longed to have a traditional family and the last thing she'd want is be divorced and raising kids as a single mum," adds the insider.

Gulp. Definitely time to get it together, guys! ■

'THE LAST THING SHE WANTS IS TO BE A SINGLE MUM'

The couple were buying up big at Buy Buy Baby

BUB ON THE WAY FOR BEN & LINDSAY?

Pulling out the nursery #inspo, huh Linds?

Are Ben Affleck and Lindsay Shookus nesting? It sure looks that way! The lovebirds were snapped stocking up at Buy Buy Baby in Santa Monica on March 24, sparking speculation they were picking up supplies for an impending arrival!

Yep, there's buzz the recently reunited pair are gearing up to welcome their own little one! "They've picked up right where they left off," a source tells Us of the couple, who reconciled in February. "They're very comfortable together [and] happy to be back in each other's lives." So comfortable in fact that insiders say no-one would be shocked if they're starting a family together!

Ben, 46 – who shares kids Violet, 13, Seraphina, 10, and Samuel, seven, with ex Jennifer Garner – says fatherhood is "the focus of my life", so he'd no doubt welcome another child. And we suspect Lindsay, 38, would be over-the-moon to give her only daughter Madeline, six, a sibling.

Baby or not, Ben and Lindsay are certainly full steam ahead, with Radar reporting they've already moved back in together. Only thing still left to decide is which room will be the nursery!

POWERING THE FUTURE OF WOMEN IN STEM

Are you, or do you know, a woman with a passion for science, engineering, technology or maths (STEM)? Despite the booming career opportunities in these industries, women are still vastly underrepresented in STEM in Australia*. Bauer Media, along with Elucent Skincare, is looking to kick-start the career of the next superwoman of STEM, with a $20,000 grant to fund her STEM study. This is an amazing opportunity to support and encourage women and another step towards a more equal future.

SNEAKING AROUND FOR MONTHS!

Poor Michael!
The primary

that the pair have been enjoying clandestine meet-ups for the last four months, and even had a romantic date in Byron Bay – where Sam was living at the time – back in December!

According to a source, Sam, 26, and 30-year-old Martha “only had eyes for each other” as they chatted away over cocktails. “They were oblivious to everything going on around them.”

A second source tells NW that they also spotted the twosome on a date in Sydney in late February, where they acted very much like a couple.

“Even though they were doing their best to fly under the radar, at one point Martha got up and sat on Sam’s lap. They were being really affectionate with one another,” dishes the eye witness. Poor Michael!

Fuelling speculation the duo are set to become an official item is Sam’s big move to Sydney, where Martha also lives near Bondi Beach. He appears to have given up his day job as a tradie and has since signed on with a Sydney modelling agency – a career path after Martha’s own heart!

What’s even more convincing is that Martha is said to have introduced Sam to her parents during her time in Byron. And they’re apparently smitten!

“While Michael impressed them, Sam has won them over, too,” the source reveals.

“Martha and Michael’s lives were just too different... I hate to say it, but their marriage was never going to work.”

While Martha and Sam are staying tight-lipped about their relationship, Sam has openly admitted that he finds the make-up artist gorgeous.

In fact, he tells NW he wishes he’d opted to leave his on-screen wife Elizabeth Sobinoff for Martha, instead of having an “affair” with Ines Basic.

“Martha is attractive and she knows what she wants,” he gushes. “I love how confident she is in her own skin... Not to the point where Elizabeth was [which was] an arrogant way... but in a beautiful way, where she can just be someone who can stand by my side and we conquer the world together.”

However, the source says we’ll get a glimpse of their romance at the upcoming two-part reunion, which was filmed in January, just weeks after Martha and Sam’s Byron dinner date. “It’s very telling that when Cyrell [Paule] attacks Martha, she runs to Sam for protection, and not Michael,” dishes a source. Hmmmm...

Understandably, Michael, 27, is devastated by the shock turn of events, with the source spilling, “He gave everything to the experiment and to Martha. He feels totally betrayed and more than a little played.” ■

Xoxo! Martha’s the real-life Gossip Girl

She’s certainly stirred up her fair share of drama on the show – and in real life! – and insiders say Martha was pretty much MAFS’s very own Gossip Girl! “Martha is the biggest pot-stirrer I’ve ever met,” reveals one participant. “She would gossip non-stop just to get attention, and because she was so bored in her own relationship. [She and some of the other girls] basically made themselves the mean girls of the group. Martha would try to pry into everything and cause problems.”

Well, in the wise words of OG Queen Bee Blair Waldorf, “You can’t make people love you, but you can make them fear you.”

Jess & Dan: Faking it for fame

Jessika Power claims she's finally found "real" love with Dan Webb after a false start with first MAFS hubby Mick Gould.

But it seems once the cameras clear out, the pair aren't as cosy – prompting speculation their romance is just a showmance! Yep, onlookers say Jess, 27, and Dan, 35, dropped the PDA once they thought they weren't being watched while out at lunch in Sydney on March 26. Hmmm...

What's more, they aren't convincing their co-stars either! Jules Robinson claims the relationship is "one hundred per cent not real". "Maybe [Jess and Dan] do like each other... with her past record, does anybody know what's real with Jess and what's not?" she says.

But Jess has hit back at Jules, blasting, "You don't need to be throwing that out to the whole world." Especially not while the part-time model's trying to have her 15 minutes...

Ines:

Headed to the PSYCH WAR

The controversial contestant has fans worried about her!

Her last name might be basic, but Ines Basic was anything but when she arrived at a court appearance on March 26. The 29-year-old was giving off major Angelina Jolie vibes as she arrived looking glam in all black. Soooo extra!

But her "Hollywood-style" arrival at court – complete with bodyguard and limousine – quickly sparked debate on social media, with many wondering if the reality contestant is out of touch with, er, reality. "This girl has lost the plot," blasted a MAFS fan. "Who does she think she is?"

Other comments took another turn, with some wondering if the legal assistant is struggling with her mental health. "Ines seems to have some serious issues," alleged one. "We're going to hear about her falling to pieces at some stage."

The comments came after Ines was sentenced to 70 hours' community service for drink driving, after ramming into her sister Ena's parked car on Christmas Day last year because her sister had "ridiculed" her for appearing on reality TV. "I would never drink and drive, but the bh pissed me off!" Ines shared.

While Magistrate Deborah Vasta told Ines during her sentencing to "get some perspective on life" and branded her an "absolute brat", there are others who are more sympathetic to the fact that appearing on reality TV can be damaging to mental health.

"The trouble with reality TV is that it is not reality," Clinical Psychologist Dr Janet Hall tells NW. "It is possible that a contestant may have an elevated sense of importance and believe their own ego enhancement because of their momentary fame. This might act as a drug, creating an obsessive desire for more fame."

"Some folks with sensitive nervous systems might become mentally 'unhinged' by this 'fame opiate,'" Dr Hall continues. "It is possible that lasting mental health problems might be created in the future." Yikes! Please take care of yourself, Ines...

CAM: "I DON'T WANT TO GET MARRIED AGAIN!"

He proposed to Jules Robinson in Sunday night's vow renewal ceremony, but fast-forward all these weeks later and Cameron Merchant is having a serious case of cold feet!

Yep, NW has been told that the groom doesn't want to get married again, and only popped the Q because he felt pressured to give the show a happy ending. "It's not that he doesn't love Jules... God no. It's just that he doesn't really see the need for them to have another wedding," tells an insider. "He was happy with the one [on the show]. He wouldn't change a thing about it."

Word is Cam, 35, has asked Jules, 37, to put the wedding on hold until they can really settle into life together.

"He doesn't see a rush to walk down the aisle again," adds the insider. "In fact, he'd much prefer if they just went and made it legal at a registry office."

OMG! DOES SAM BALL HAVE BAD, AHEM, TECHNIQUE?!

Hmmm, seems Sam Ball might need a lesson in cunnilingus! The MAFS groom's former fling Ines hit out after he claimed their dalliance was "fake" and they never actually slept together. "Yeah, producers made you eat my py for four hours, hun," Ines slammed. Umm, either Sam's a super generous guy or his technique just wasn't doing it for poor Ines! Sam has denied the X-rated claims, joking that he's simply not cut out for the marathon sesh. "I would run out of breath or more likely get hungry, tired or bored," he said, claiming Ines was simply "cut" because he didn't sleep with her. Ouch!

GWEN BEGS POPE FOR

ANNULMENT!

Gwen's trying to pray the Gavin away!

Oh, she's just a girl... trying to get her first marriage erased from the history books!

Devout Catholic Gwen Stefani plans on dragging her boyfriend Blake Shelton to the Vatican in a bid to end the bitter battle with her ex Gavin Rossdale once and for all!

Yep, sources reveal that Gwen has formally petitioned Pope Francis, asking that her 13-year marriage to rocker Gavin be annulled so she can marry Blake in the church. Gwen apparently plans to argue for the annulment on grounds of marital infidelity and fraud, based on Gavin's alleged affair with Mindy Mann, the Aussie nanny employed to look after their three boys Kingston, 12, Zuma, 10, and Apollo, five.

"It means everything to Gwen to have a Catholic wedding," confides a friend. "But the church can't condone a marriage after a divorce – unless the marriage isn't recognised in the first place."

Desperate to make that happen, Gwen, 49, has been meeting with her parish priest and Catholic officials to arrange for an annulment to officially erase her marriage.

"Once that's done, it will be as though her marriage to Gavin never happened," the source adds.

But according to insiders, getting the request granted can take up to three years – too long for Blake and Gwen, who have held more than one backyard celebration of their union for friends and family.

"Gwen hoped that one of those events would have been their actual wedding, but the annulment process has pushed things back," the source spilled. "If it doesn't happen by the [US summer], Gwen is planning a trip to the Vatican in Rome with Blake and her parents to make her appeal in person!"

Blake, 42, is also taking classes to convert to Gwen's Catholic faith to help move the process along, sources said. But Gwen's actions have infuriated 53-year-old Gavin, who wants to have his say in front of the Catholic tribunal considering the annulment!

"He isn't going to let Gwen just sweep their marriage under the rug," a source said. "There's so much animosity between them that Gavin isn't in the mood to make anything easy for her." ■

We'll never forget Gwen and Gavin's 2002 nuptials – but she'd prefer a clean slate!

Blake has bonded big time with Gwen's sons Apollo, Zuma and Kingston

'Jim has tried to be understanding and supportive toward Reese, but surely no man would want to see his wife being grilled about her ex,' spills an insider

Reese lashes out

'You've my ma

Big little drama! Reese could be looking at divorce no. 2 thanks to ongoing beef with her first hubby!

Some wounds just never heal, and Reese Witherspoon is learning that the hard way! Amid rumours of tension between her and hubby Jim Toth during the actress's 43rd birthday celebrations earlier this month, it seems the couple's eight-year marriage is hanging by a thread.

According to insiders, Reese – who's tried to put the past behind her since finalising her divorce from ex-husband Ryan Phillippe in 2007 – has somehow found herself caught up in the 44-year-old actor's latest legal battle.

Cruel intentions?

Ryan – who shares kids Ava, 19, and Deacon, 15, with Reese – was hit with a lawsuit in 2017 by his ex-girlfriend, model Elsie Hewitt, who accused the actor of kicking, punching and throwing her down the stairs. Ryan dismissed the claims and countersued, alleging that Elsie broke into his house and "fabricated a story in an unjustified attempt to extort money" from him to help her modelling career. As part of the ongoing case, Ryan was recently ordered to turn over any text messages about Elsie – between him and his ex-wife!

"Reese must be bracing herself for the worst because she's being dragged right into the centre of this mess with Ryan whether she likes it or not," a well-placed insider tells, adding that it was "inevitable" Elsie and her legal team would win the right to subpoena all records and conversations that Ryan has supposedly had about her. "Reese's messages could be crucial in determining whether or not Ryan can prove his innocence."

And this may be just the beginning. "It's also highly possible Elsie would want Reese to take the stand under cross-examination," adds our insider, "and that would be a nightmare of epic proportions" – one that could tear her marriage to talent agent Jim, 49, apart!

Wither-ing away...

Jim and Reese have been plagued by tensions and disagreements. In fact, things recently came to a head on February 9, when a sloshed-looking Reese was spied stumbling down the stairs at pal Jennifer Aniston's star-studded 50th birthday bash.

Jim, who was arrested for a DUI in 2013, left the party sometime before his seemingly inebriated spouse that night, according to our moles. "He cut out more than an hour before with one of her friends, and it seems they just left her to it. She didn't want to stop drinking," an insider spilled at the time.

Reese's latest drama with her ex is only placing more strain on the already tarnished relationship. "Make no mistake," adds our tipster. "This will be embarrassing as all hell for Reese. It's the last thing she and Jim need to be caught up in."

And now pals fear that it's only a matter of time before Reese, who shares son Tennessee, six, with Jim, is faced with another failed relationship. "If this gets horribly messy, Reese will probably want to keep her head down," sighs a close pal. "She might head to the South for a while and hang with her family and the kids until it all dies down. She may even have to take a break from Hollywood altogether!" ■

While ex-hubby Ryan attempted to keep Reese out of his legal battle, a judge decided the pair's text messages should be examined

'SHE'S BEING DRAGGED INTO THE CENTRE OF THIS MESS'

THE TIES THAT BIND

Reese was dragged into Ryan's battle with his most recent ex because "everyone knows he's been very upfront with Reese about what happened [involving Elsie]," tells a source.

George & Meghan's

secret fling

Years before she became a duchess, Meghan was very nearly Hollywood royalty. Consider us shook!

.....

Meghan Markle has lived every girl's dream, marrying her dashing prince and residing in a fairytale palace. But it turns out she could have been Hollywood royalty instead – because she almost snared King Clooney!

Yep, while Meghan and George Clooney have been mates for years, new whispers have emerged that they might have been more than that for a brief period back in the day...

“George and Meghan are great friends, but the way that he’s so publicly stood up for her recently makes it seem like they could have some kind of a past,” an insider tells NW. “After all, Meghan always hoped she’d end up with someone super-successful [so] of course she would have her eye on a guy like George! Not only is he one of the hottest men in the world, but he’s also totally charming and hilarious.”

Aw, poor Meg, having to put up with a consolation prize like handsome Prince Harry!

Of course, the two couples have become fast friends, with George and his wife Amal attending the royal wedding – at which George is said to have danced with the bride. The Duke and Duchess of Sussex then holidayed at the Clooney estate on Lake Como, where Meghan and Amal reportedly solidified their friendship and the boys bonded over George’s motorcycle collection. Amal was also at Meghan’s New York City baby shower in February.

They can all laugh about the romantic vibes of the past and that it wasn’t meant to be – but the fact that George leapt so readily to Meghan’s defence recently speaks volumes about the, ahem, Mark-le the actress has made on him. “[Meghan] is a really kind and smart and intelligent young woman,” he told Good Morning Britain, describing the royal duo as “a really wonderful, loving couple”. “I think it’s a little unfair at times,” he added of Meghan’s treatment by the British press. “She hadn’t done anything except just happen to live her life.”

George first met Amal in July 2013, a month before Meghan and first husband Trevor Engelson finalised their divorce – so the source believes that the Oscar winner and the future duchess must have had their date in the months preceding.

“There’s talk that they have a history,” says the spy. “After all, Meg would be exactly George’s type. She’s beautiful and wants to make the world a better place. Plus, she goes after what she wants. She wouldn’t have been afraid to make a move on George when they were both single!”

Clearly everything worked out for the best in the end – but it’s crazy to think about what could have been! “George and Meg go on double dates these days and laugh about it now,” grins the source. “They both got their happily ever after – it just wasn’t with each other!” ■

She's Bridget Jones no more! Hollywood's most unlucky-in-love star is changing tack when it comes to dating

She has two divorces under her belt, as well as a string of bad relationships, but Jennifer Aniston is finally shaking off the "Poor Jen" tag she was unfairly lumped with all those years ago and jumping back into the driving seat of her dating life. And the star's first stop is a new set of love rules!

"She's going to say 'yes' to as many dates as possible and enjoy herself, but not get too attached – especially when it comes to the exes she's let back into her life," a source tells NW of the beloved Hollywood actress. "Jen's vowed to stop whining and

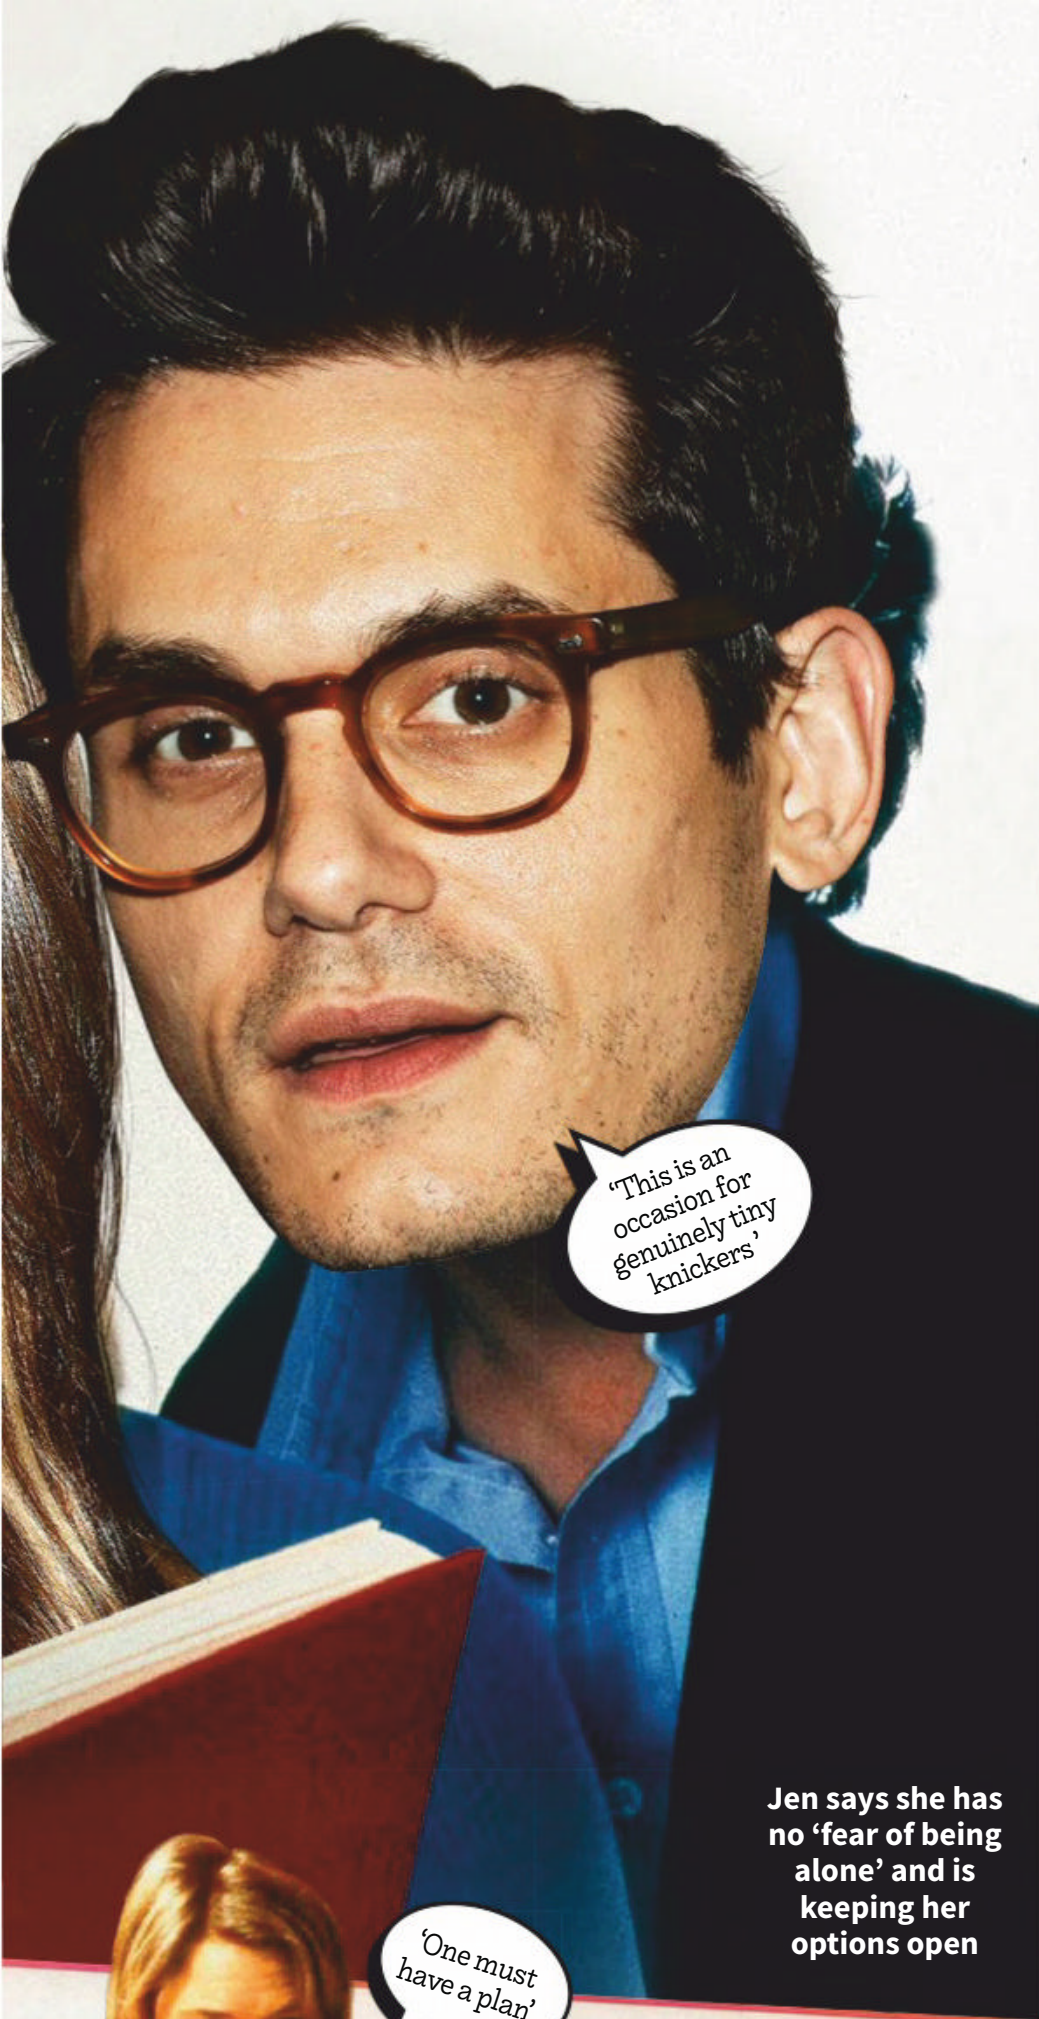

'I'll always be your Mr Darcy'

'Will be poised and cool ice queen'

Jennifer Aniston's Diary

'I'M SAYING YES

to I love!'

"This is an occasion for genuinely tiny knickers"

Jen says she has no 'fear of being alone' and is keeping her options open

'One must have a plan'

Dating 101

- Say 'yes' to every date
- Don't catch feels
- Keep Brad and the rest of the exes on their toes
- All eligible men must have their "sensitivity chip" in place
- He must not have better hair than me start living. Her career's on fire, she looks incredible and, at 50 years old, she's ready to start having fun!"

In fact, Jen's so eager to start mingling, she's putting her rebooted relationship with first hubby Brad Pitt, 55, on the backburner while she explores the singles scene.

Yep, according to pals, things have been "very casual" between the exes since they reconnected at Jen's star-studded 50th birthday bash in February.

"Jen has a history of jumping into relationships, so with Brad she plans to keep it easy – no strings attached," says a source. "They don't want things to get messy."

She's also not making any promises to another of her previous conquests, infamous player John Mayer, 41.

"They've stayed friendly since their split, but they've been seeing more of each other over the last few weeks," explains the source.

But this time Jen's not taking any chances with the mouthy muso!

Uh-huh, John famously blabbed that he ended their romance in 2009 because he didn't want to "waste" her time. So now Jen has made it crystal clear that if John wants to spend time with her again, "he needs to keep his mouth shut... and he's agreed," spills the pal. "He's grown up a lot since they last dated – and Jen really appreciates that."

While Jen is keen to start playing the field of Hollywood's most eligible bachelors, she's not seeking out hubby number three just yet.

"Jennifer still believes in love... and she's pretty confident she will fall in love again one day, but it really isn't something she lays awake worrying about at night," says the source.

Indeed, Jen made it known that she wasn't sitting at home in her PJs and pining after announcing her divorce from Justin Theroux, 47, in February last year.

"The misconceptions are 'Jen can't keep a man'... Or that I'm sad and heartbroken. I'm not heartbroken," she snapped. "When a couple breaks up in Hollywood, it's the woman who is scorned... She's the failure. Fk that. When was the last time you read about a divorced, childless man referred to as a spinster?"

You tell 'em, hun!

"These days Jen's doing things exactly the way she wants to and is really enjoying life," adds the insider.

She's also calling the shots when it comes to her career too, teasing her new TV project The Morning Show with Reese Witherspoon for Apple TV last week.

"Jen's very comfortable with where she is and believes that whatever her path is, it will present itself the way it should. She's all about taking care of herself." And that means with or without a man!

"Why do we want a happy ending? How about just a happy existence?" says the star, who also admits she's fed up with the idea of a fairytale ending. "What quantifies happiness in someone's life isn't the ideal that was created in the '50s."

Out with the old and in with the new, hey Jen?! And lots of them! ■

This week's BIG QUESTIONS

Blonde and ambitious – Jordyn is taking on the world

IS JORDYN ALREADY CASHING IN?

While Tristan Thompson has been keeping a low profile since cheating on Khloe Kardashian, the same can't be said for Jordyn Woods! So is the drama just one big pay cheque?

The rumblings began after Jordyn, 21, was reportedly being "flooded" with lucrative business offers thanks to her elevated profile. And with an Insta-following closing in on 10 million, Jordyn is ready to cash in. She's travelling the world promoting her Eylure eyelash collection, as well as her clothing line.

In fact, she recently visited London with mumager Elizabeth to ink new deals in the make-up and fashion worlds, according to The Blast. A number of calls have been set up by marketing guru Sheeraz Hasan, who's arranged Middle East deals for Kim Kardashian and J.Lo. So was that "kiss on the lips" and ensuing drama worth it? DID RIRI CONFIRM SHE'S ENGAGED... & PREGGERS?!

Rihanna's getting clucky – and she may have got engaged as well!

The singing superstar recently liked an Instagram video in which E! personality Morgan Stewart predicted that she'd be getting married and becoming pregnant – sending the ever-watchful internet faithful into a spin. Morgan added the caveat that Rihanna probably wouldn't do it immediately, as “she still wants to smoke a cigarette once in a while”, but that it would most likely take place within two years. And trigger-happy RiRi, with her finger hovering over that “like” button, is the one who can actually make it happen!

Rihanna has been with Saudi billionaire businessman Hassan Jameel since mid-2017, and they looked all loved up while at an LA Lakers game in February. Right from the start, a source told

The Sun, “This relationship is the real deal. Rihanna has told friends she's in love with him and seems completely smitten... They're really enjoying each other's company.”

That still seems to be the case – and if the question has indeed been popped and there's a baby about to enter the equation, the pair have clearly been enjoying each other's company a lot!

HAS DEMI GIVEN UP ON ROMANCE FOR GOOD?

Demi Lovato hasn't had the best romantic luck since splitting with Wilmer Valderrama in 2016 – so has she decided to go solo and give herself some recovery time?

The 26-year-old recently spent time in treatment, following a long list of issues including having been diagnosed with bipolar disorder in 2011 and being rushed to hospital after an apparent heroin overdose last year. But in the aftermath of her break-up with designer Henry Levy – a relationship many of her loved ones didn't approve of – she's been encouraged to look after her own wellbeing.

“Everyone's biggest fear is Demi going off the rails again, and there's a real chance that could happen if [there's] another bad break-up,” says an insider. “They want her to take time to focus on herself.”

The singer seems to be taking their words to heart. On March 7, Demi showed off a bouquet of flowers on Instagram with a note reading, “You're beautiful, you're loved and you're worthy of a happy and healthy life” – a gift she revealed she'd sent to herself.

“She's devastated about what happened with Henry,” admits the source. “But the hope is that this will push her to think about what she wants out of life...”

OMG! DID CARDI REALLY ROB & DRUG MEN?

More disturbing behaviour from Cardi B has come to light, with the 26-year-old rapper admitting that she used to drug and steal from men – passing it off as “I did what I had to do to survive”.

The admission came from Cardi's own lips, in an old Instagram Live video in which she ranted about criminal acts from her past. “I had to go strip, I had to go, ‘Oh yeah, you want to fk me? Yeah, yeah, yeah, let's go back to this hotel,’ and I drugged nas up and I robbed them. That's what I used to do,” claimed the rapper.

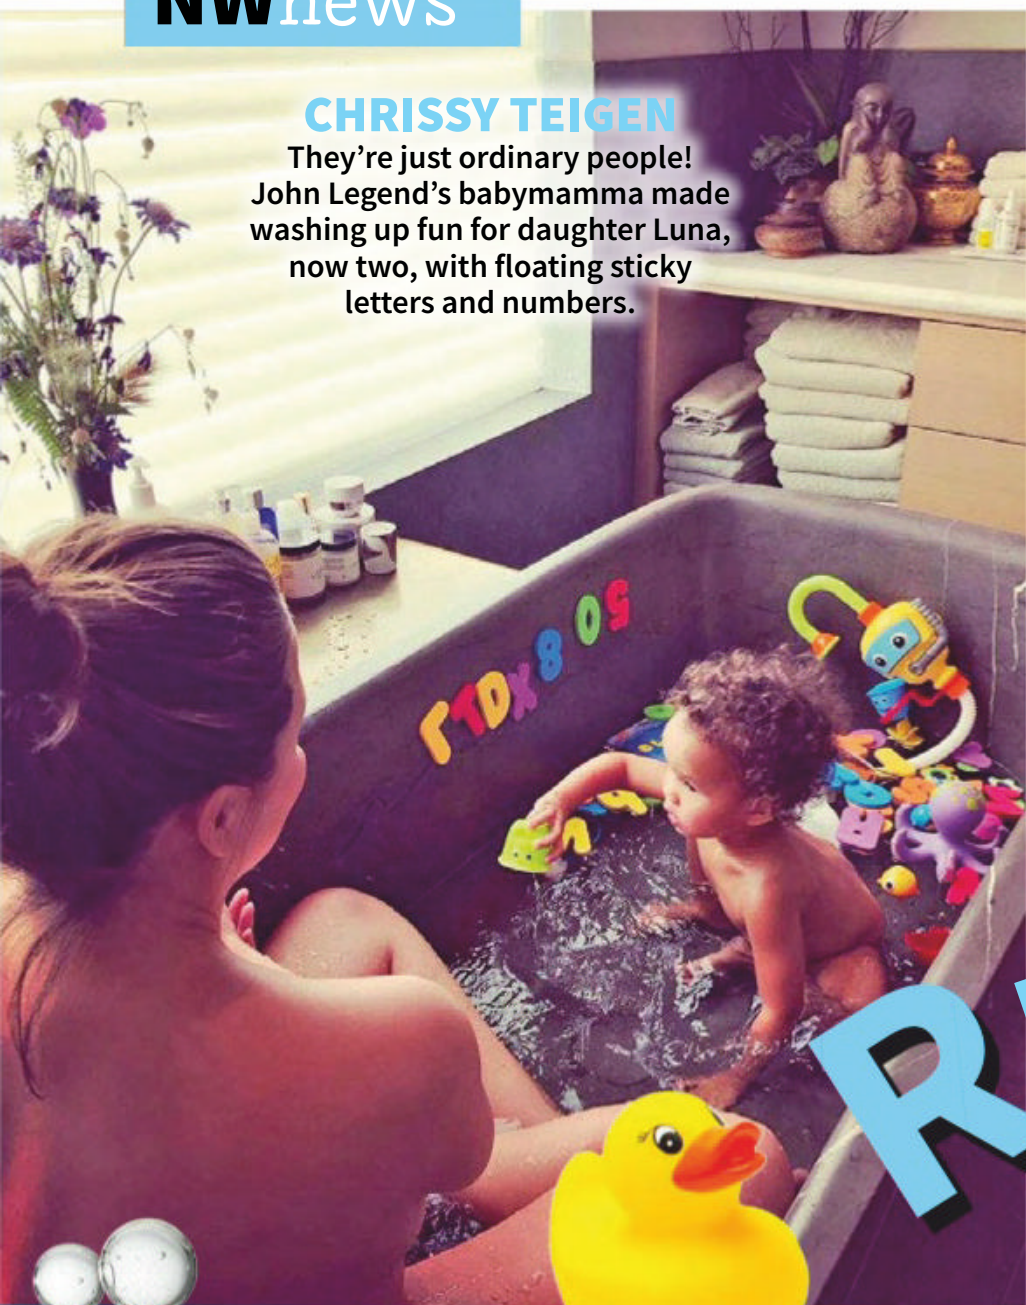

Social media condemnation was swift, with many questioning why she was not facing charges, and speculating on the effect a similar confession would have on a man's life and career.

But in typical Cardi fashion, she tackled the criticism head on, posting a statement that said in part, “I never claim to be perfect or come from a perfect world with a perfect past... I never glorified the things I brought up in that live [chat] I never even put those things in my music because I'm not proud of it and feel a responsibility not to glorify it.”

Cardi B has always been one hot mess, but it remains to be seen what the fallout from this latest turn of events might be...

BROOKLYN BECKHAM

"Missing the LA weather," Brooks captioned this Instagram pic. But the response from his followers was anything but cold!

'Is it just me or is everything shrinking?'

KEVIN HART

Brrr! For three seasons and counting, Kevin (right), has chatted up athletes – including NBA champ Isaiah Thomas – in ice baths on the aptly titled series Cold As Balls.

BETHENNY FRANKEL

Girl has got a lot of drama in her life. So it's no wonder the author, entrepreneur and Real Housewife of New York likes to kick back and relax in the tub. Bethenny once even suds'ed up on her now-defunct talk show Bethenny!

'Make room for me, Beth!'

Choir robes and hymns? More like skinny jeans and rock songs. Hillsong, the trendy Christian mega-church that has outposts in New York and Los Angeles among other cities, attracts thousands of worshippers each week with its youthful, tattooed pastors and modern-day take on religion.

"It feels like Arcade Fire," Vanessa Hudgens once gushed, referencing the alternative band. Vanderpump Rules star Jax Taylor is similarly enthusiastic. "It's like my recharge for the week," he has said. "I look forward to it."

So do Justin and Hailey Bieber, Kylie Jenner, Kourtney Kardashian and countless other celebrities who have flocked to its services. As Vanessa sums up, "It's epic."

It's also extremely controversial. After Jurassic World star Chris Pratt praised the church on The Late Show With Stephen Colbert on February 7, actress Ellen Page took to Twitter to blast Hillsong as "infamously anti-LGBTQ" and suggested it supports conversion therapy, the controversial practice of trying to turn gay people straight. (The church reportedly stopped referring congregants to conversion therapy around 2011, and now claims to disavow this practice.)

But that's just the tip of the iceberg. Hillsong founder Brian Houston, who started the church in Australia in 1983, was found to have failed to inform authorities upon learning of the sexual abuse his late pastor father, Frank, inflicted on a victim during an Australian Royal Commission into child sexual abuse in 2013 (Brian continues to deny the allegation).

What's more, former Hillsong member Tanya Levin, author of People In Glass Houses, claims to In Touch that the church strong-arms parishioners into donating more than they can afford: "They're so insidious and exploitative and manipulative."

Publicly, the church tries to come across as inclusive and cool. Carl Lentz, a close friend of Biebs and a pastor at Hillsong – which operates in 21 countries and claims to have an average global weekly attendance of 130,000 – has told In Touch, "We do make a concerted effort to make sure no matter who you are, you can come to our church."

"Welcome" all

But when push comes to shove, Hillsong admits it's not as progressive as much of its Hollywood flock. In 2015, after a male choir director announced he was engaged to another man, he was removed from his position, prompting a public outcry. Brian explained in a blog post, "We do not affirm a gay lifestyle, and because of this we do not knowingly have actively gay people in positions of leadership," but he stressed that "we welcome ALL people".

Tanya says that's true... because gay people can have deep pockets, too. "They'll welcome anybody who's got money. [People] are absolutely pressured to give as much as they can," says Tanya, who alleges some people have even given up their homes to tithe extra.

Better Now rapper Post Malone agrees that Hillsong – which he calls a "total cult" – is money-hungry. In a 2017 Rolling Stone profile, he claimed Bieber had given $14 million to the church (a point Hillsong denied). "I used to be super religious," the hip-hop star has said. "But now I see through it."

Others seem to be catching on, too. "You can't say you accept and welcome everyone into the church and then say that this certain group isn't allowed to participate 100 per cent," says one entertainment industry worker and former Hillsong parishioner. "A lot of us didn't realise the extent of the allegations before, but now that I do, I don't attend [the church]. I hear a lot of other people are rethinking their involvement, too." ■

SUN

Winter or summer, skin needs protection with an SPF all year round. Choosing make-up and moisturisers with SPF are good options, but don't get complacent. Experts recommend using sunscreen as a base to amp up your everyday protection. If you do get burnt, however, opt for aftersuns and moisturisers with antioxidants and cell-renewing properties.

Yep, even our computers are ageing us now! We've got a new problem when it comes to complexion protection: HEV light (short high energy invisible light), known as blue light. It's emitted from our phones and other electronic devices.

Combat a prematurely aged "screen face" with vitamin C rich products which counteract age spots and pigmentation. Combine these with taking regular screen breaks and say hello to younger, brighter skin.

Pretty plaits are the perfect second-day hairstyle. They're a chic, easy way to keep hair off your face at the gym, or if you want to mix up your party style. There are plenty of ways to create the look, so take your cues from these braided beauties...

Blake Lively

DETAILED

Blake goes one better with her classic fishtail, weaving a mini plait down the length. This is a fun idea if you've got lots of hair and are looking to jazz things up. Use a piece of bright ribbon the same way – simply wrap it around the base of your pony and include in the braiding process.

This style creates a cute crown that's great for festivals. SLEEK

This one is the easiest of the lot – the key is to be as pulled-back and polished as you can. If you're prone to fly-aways, apply a styling cream at the crown and brush it through, before securing hair in a ponytail at the base of your head. Then simply braid it down to the end.

TOUSLED

This undone look is ideal for wavy hair, but if you struggle in the texture stakes, a good spritz with sea-salt spray works wonders. A deep side part is best, so start above the arch of your brow and pull the hair across. Don't worry about a pony – this looks better plaited loosely, straight down one side.

Try J.LO'S HOT DIET at home!

Don't be fooled by the guns that she's got!
Jen spills on her latest A-list eating plan...

Cutting back on sugar. Tough. Cutting back on carbs. Torturous. Combine the two and you get Jennifer Lopez's 10-day diet challenge – which, needless to say, isn't for the faint of heart!

But J.Lo ain't your normal celeb, and her latest raunchy movie role was just the thing to make the fitness queen switch up her usual routine.

"I'm getting ready for this movie called Hustlers and I have to play a stripper," says J.Lo of her motivation. "I work out a lot, I try to stay healthy but [my trainer] was like, 'Let's do something to move the needle.'"

The crazy-fit 49-year-old, who completed a triathlon just seven months after giving birth to twins Max and Emme in 2008, knows how to push herself to the limit. And trying to cut sugar and carbs from her diet a few months ago was one of the toughest things she did. "I've struggled," she told fans on day 10, "but we did it!"

With Jen noticing a difference just five days into the challenge, her diet saw processed foods, sweets, pasta, dairy, fruit and starchy vegies like potatoes and corn out. Meanwhile, non-starchy veg like broccoli and dark leafy greens were in, along with meat, nuts, seeds and olive oil.

In addition to weight loss, Jen says the plan helped "reset" her body so she can now eat "healthier carbs and healthier foods with sugar".

So how can you follow her lead – after checking with your doctor, of course – in a healthy and safe way?

"Many people will initially experience 'detox' symptoms – a headache, cravings for sugar, brain fog or fatigue. It will pass," says nutrition counsellor Laura Beam.

"When cravings strike, fill up on high-quality protein and healthy fats like avocado and

We know, 10 days is a long time! But if you don't follow the diet as strictly as J.Lo and you give in to the occasional craving, don't stress! Also, make sure you reintroduce carbs and sugar slowly when you get to the end.

“I don't advise bingeing on ice cream and pizza right away,” says Laura. “Eventually you can splurge, but don't overdo it. Your body will communicate how it feels. Listen to it.”

THE TRUTH ABOUT...

sugar

“The first and second day [of the detox] is when you realise you're addicted to sugar,” says J.Lo.

“It's like a drug.”

Celebrity dietitian Keri Glassman agrees. “[Too much sugar] can lead to obesity, type 2 diabetes, high blood pressure and heart disease,” she says. But reasonable amounts of naturally occurring sugar in fruits and vegetables are OK – and so is the occasional indulgence.

“Even the healthiest cultures around the world enjoy sweet treats from time to time,” adds nutrition counsellor Laura.

Umeboshi plum paste is available from Japanese food stores and some health food stores. If you can't find umeboshi plum paste, use seasoned Japanese plum (shiraboshiume). Remove skin and seed, then mash the pulp.

Pea & spiced edamame toasts

Serves: 4
Prep + cook: 25 minutes

Ingredients

- 1 cup frozen edamame pods
- 1 cup frozen peas
- ½ cup mint leaves
- 1 tbsp lemon juice
- 2 tbsp olive oil
- 4 slices sourdough bread, toasted
- 2 tbsp olive oil, extra
- 1 tbsp umeboshi plum paste (see tip)
- 1 avocado, sliced
- 2 watermelon radishes, trimmed, sliced thinly
- 1 tbsp micro herbs

Method

1. Add edamame to medium saucepan of boiling water, cook for 2 minutes. Add frozen peas, cook further 2 minutes or until tender. Drain, rinse under cold water. Shell edamame, discard pods.
2. Process edamame, peas and mint until combined but still chunky. Add juice and a little of the oil. With motor operating, gradually add remaining oil in a thin stream until a spreadable consistency. Transfer to small bowl, season to taste.
3. Brush bread with extra oil. Toast bread on heated grill plate (or grill or barbecue) over high heat until browned. Spread toast with plum paste and pea mixture. Top with avocado, radish and herbs and season. Drizzle with a little olive oil, if you like.

Tip!

Use balsamic vinegar if you can't find fig balsamic vinegar.

Spiced pecan French toast

Serves: 4

Prep + cooking:
25 minutes

Ingredients

- 1½ cups coconut milk
- 2 tsp vanilla extract
- ½ cup pure maple syrup
- ⅓ cup hazelnut meal
- 1 tbsp nutritional yeast flakes
- ½ tsp mixed spice
- 1 cup pecans, chopped finely
- 8 x 50g slices thick multigrain sourdough bread
- 40g vegan margarine spread
- 250g mixed berries
- 2 tsp icing sugar
- Edible flowers, optional

Method

1. Whisk coconut milk, vanilla, 2 tablespoons of syrup, hazelnut meal, yeast and mixed spice in shallow dish. Place pecans on plate. Soak bread in coconut milk mixture, one at a time, for 1 minute each side. Press onto pecans.
2. Heat half margarine in large frying pan over low-medium heat. Cook bread in batches for 2 minutes each side or until golden, adding remaining margarine halfway through cooking.
3. Divide French toast among plates, top with berries and remaining syrup. Dust with icing sugar, serve topped with edible flowers.

Cherry tomato and 'cream cheese' bruschetta

Serves: 4

Prep + cooking: 40 minutes
(+ cooling)

Ingredients

- 400g truss tomato medley mix
- 250g truss cherry tomatoes
- 1 tbsp rosemary leaves
- 4 cloves garlic, bruised, halved
- 2 tbsp olive oil
- 2 tbsp sticky fig and balsamic vinegar drizzle
- 8 thick slices soy and linseed sourdough bread
- ⅔ cup tofu "cream cheese"
- Rocket and walnut pesto, optional

Method

1. Preheat oven to 180°C.
2. Place tomatoes, rosemary and garlic on medium oven tray. Drizzle with oil and vinegar, season well. Roast 20 minutes. Cool 5 minutes. Crush tomatoes lightly, reserve juices on tray.
3. Toast sourdough.
4. Spread "cream cheese" on toast, top with tomato mixture. Drizzle with juices from tray and pesto.

Paris Jackson

April 3, 1998

Aries girl Paris can get her silly side on this week, as most people will love it! But if the star finds herself with sombre souls, she'd do well to tone it down.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

- MON Matt Lanter, 36
- TUES Michael Fassbender, 42
- WED Amanda Bynes, 33. Eddie Murphy, 58. Alec Baldwin, 61

- SUN Russell Crowe, 55

YOUR Stars

The week ahead with Adele Lang

Aries MAR 21 – APRIL 20

The Sun is still in your sign and it's set to bring out your playful side. This should make you popular with youngsters in your midst. Grown-ups too will find it hard not to smile when you clown around. Having a laugh is good for the soul but don't take it too far when in the presence of those being deadly serious.

Cancer JUNE 22 – JULY 23

Now the Sun's moved into Taurus, you should feel more financially secure. But that doesn't mean you're free to take foolhardy risks with money. Nor are you advised to spend big on life's luxuries. Stick to the same budget as previous – no matter how many people try to convince you to do otherwise...

Libra SEPT 24 – OCT 23

Both Mars and Mercury suggest love may blossom in the unlikelyst of places. So if you are normally a homebody, then romance could be found on a trip away. If you're an adventurous soul, then visiting your local pub might do. This week, only opposites will attract – so move out of your comfort zone ASAP.

Capricorn DEC 22 – JAN 20

Saturn says concentrate on home and family. This week, even the most career-conscious Cap-girl can't hope to make great gains at work by continuing to neglect her nearest and dearest. Truth be told, ongoing domestic strife could start hindering your ambitions to conquer the world beyond your own front door.

Taurus APRIL 21 – MAY 21

With most of the planets moving forward this week, you won't be short on energy or good health. In fact, you might be buzzing so much, people may ask you to tone it down. Don't let that put a dampener on things though. Being so full of get-up-and-go means now is the perfect time to achieve a long-held dream.

Leo JULY 24 – AUG 23

This star-gazer wants you to make a real effort to get on with others (yep, even those you instantly dislike). By treating everyone in a fair-minded way, you won't have to blame yourself if things go awry. Instead, you can just walk away knowing that you were perfectly reasonable right from the start.

Scorpio OCT 24 – NOV 22

You've only got the next week to make a bold move so far as financial investments are concerned. After that, the influence of your money-planet Jupiter might mean you end up losing your nerve. Much-needed support or advice from family and friends should help you to exploit a limited, but rather profitable, offer.

Aquarius JAN 21 – FEB 19

Avoid harshly judging people who are, quite clearly, less intelligent than you. (Also bear in mind that not all can lay claim to being the most cerebral sign of the zodiac.) This week, planetary patterns signal some smart observations from sorts you wouldn't normally give the time of day. Listen hard and then act fast.

Gemini MAY 22 – JUNE 21

A partner or suitor would do well to not be too controlling in forthcoming days. While you haven't minded letting a lover take the reins in recent times, Mars now reckons you won't put up with them telling you what to do. If you want romance to thrive, then be frank about your need for freedom.

Virgo AUG 24 – SEPT 23

Expect the unexpected over the next seven days. According to lunar activity, not every situation is going to turn out as planned. How you react to curveballs will determine the outcome – be it good or bad. Fragile family affairs, in particular, are reliant upon you showing grace under enormous pressure.

Sagittarius NOV 23 – DEC 21

Mercury's presence indicates trouble in paradise when an already flighty sign becomes even flightier. You don't need too many excuses to bolt from a romance at the best of times. And, unfortunately, this week you're going to be given plenty of good reasons to run. So, unless it's true love: on your marks, get set...

Pisces FEB 20 – MAR 20

Your money-planet Mars is hoping you're in the mood for home improvements. If so, loved ones will be happy to help out. If you wish to avoid DIY projects, then fine. You've got lots of other things on your plate. Just don't expect family and friends to rush to your financial rescue when it finally suits you.

Three hearts: Romance looks set to be a scorcher
One heart: Might be more fizzle than sizzle

Two hearts: Expect more than a few warm, fuzzy feelings

DIARY OF A CRAP HOUSEWIFE

JESSICA ROWE'S
UNFILTERED NEW BOOK!

Jessica Rowe is on a mission to release us all from the pressure of Instagram perfection with her latest book Diary Of A Crap Housewife. "It's a rallying cry to unite and support fellow crap housewives who aren't great in the kitchen and struggle to keep life always neat and tidy. It's a collection of stories sharing my lack of domesticity and everyday struggles," the best-selling author and former Studio 10 host tells NW. "For me, the joy of life is celebrating our imperfections and focusing on what really matters!" Like her cats... and Real Housewives binge-fests!

Are you rebelling against all those flawless Insta feeds with your Crap Housewife brand? Absolutely! I've always been a rebel. And I'm weary of people pretending their life is perfect. Not only does a Valencia filter put too much pressure on yourself, it also puts pressure on everyone else. I'd much rather be honest about the mess and chaos of life.

Why is it important to you to share the less-than-perfect moments? I'm an over-sharer from way back. But I used to always fear that I was the only one who struggled to balance the demands of family, work and life. Once I started sharing my #craphousewife moments on my Insta account (@jessjrowe), I realised it wasn't just me! And that is an empowering feeling!

What makes a Crap Housewife? It's a badge of honour to be a #craphousewife. For me it's about being honest about what we're not perfect at but valuing kindness, laughter and joy!

What's the worst meal that you've ever served up to your hubby Peter Overton and your daughters Allegra and Giselle? Ummm, it's tricky to just limit it to one meal! Probably my most recent cooking challenge was a dish I called "sausage surprise"! As my husband said afterwards, "Well, that was certainly a surprise, Pussycat!"

Speaking of cats, yours deserve their own Insta – like Kylie Jenner created for her dogs! Firstly, my eldest daughter would think it was cool to have her mum mentioned in the same sentence as Kylie Jenner, since as far as she's concerned I'm soooo embarrassing. But I fear that if I gave our cats their own Insta accounts they would become even more demanding.

What's your guilty TV viewing pleasure? I LOVE The Real Housewives franchise. My all-time favourite Housewives are on The Real Housewives Of Beverly Hills.

You left Studio 10 last year. Are you missing morning TV? No, as I now get to have the mornings with my daughters! What I do miss are the wonderful chats and laughs we'd have in the make-up room.

Do you have any plans to return to TV? Never say never! I'd love to do an Aussie version of the cooking show Nailed It!

Out now. Allen & Unwin

THE REAL HOUSEWIVES OF CHESHIRE

THE KNIVES ARE OUT ON SEASON NINE

► WHO: Brit babes Tanya Bardsley, Dawn Ward, Seema Malhotra, Ester Dohnalova and Rachel Lugo are back, with two new wives, dentist Hanna Miraftab and yoga teacher Perla Navia. Natch, they're all spilling the tea – and the champagne!

► WHAT: And you thought things had quietened down in Cheshire! Fresh faces mean new friendships – and feuds – are formed. Straight-talking Perla isn't scared to share her, er, pearls of wisdom, even when they're brutal... which doesn't go down well with some of her fellow Housewives. Gulp! Meanwhile, Tanya's daughter follows her mum into the world of modelling.

Premieres 2.30pm (encore 9.30pm) Friday April 5 on Arena

THRONECAST: GAME SHOW OF THRONES

A GoT QUIZ TO REMEMBER!

► WHO: Hosted by British comedian Sue Perkins and featuring Game Of Thrones stars Kate Dickie (Lysa Arryn) and Hannah Waddingham (Septa Unella).

► WHAT: Winter's come early! With the eighth and final season of Game Of Thrones just days away, this 90-minute special of the popular panel after-show sees celebrity super fans of GoT battle it out in their Houses to determine who knows as much as the Three-Eyed Raven and who's a bit more Jon Snow – before one team walks away with the Crown of Thrones.

Premieres 9.30pm Sunday March 31 on Fox Showcase

MISSING LINK

CELEB-PACKED ANIMATION

► WHO: The voice talents of Hugh Jackman, Zoe Saldana, Zach Galifianakis and Emma Thompson.

► WHAT: Dapper explorer Sir Lionel Frost (Hugh) is hired by lonely and last-of-his-kind Big Foot, aka Mr Link (Zach), to help find his long-lost relatives in the fabled valley of Shangri-La. Fellow adventurer Adelina Fortnight (Zoe) joins their quest and the trio travel the world to help their new pal.

In cinemas Thursday April 11

UNICORN STORE

GROWN-UP FAIRYTALE FLICK

► WHO: Brie Larson directs and stars in this indie comedy, which also features Joan Cusack, Bradley Whitford and Samuel L. Jackson.

► WHAT: This quirky fantasy follows unicorn-obsessed art student Kit, who receives a mysterious invitation that will finally make her childhood dreams come true.

"It's not an easy time in the world right now so I hope that – in the old tradition of films being a form of escapism and a way to dream – this film can do that," says Oscar winner Brie of her outside-the-square and utterly magical movie.

Premieres Friday April 5 on Netflix

► II The BIG NW TURN ON

WHAT'S ON IN ENTERTAINMENT!

GEORDIE SHORE

SEASON 19!

► II WHO: There are new recruits in town too, with Bethan Kershaw, Tahlia Chung, Beau Brennan and Natalie Phillips joining long-time Geordies Scotty T, Chloe Ferry, Nathan Henry, Sam Gowland, Sophie Kasaei and Aussie Alex Macpherson. And it sounds like they'll fit in just fine! "I can drink anyone under the table, when I'm out I'm there for a good time, I get everyone on it," says Tahlia. Yep, she's a natural!

► II WHAT: Business is booming for Geordie Tours as the team head back on the road. This time, our favourite bunch of radgies will be travelling in style on their own tour bus, stopping in Belfast and Cardiff. But it's going to be one hell of a rocky ride!

With Chloe's bestie Bethan entering the house, will Chloe finally put mates before dates? And Bethan and fellow newbie Beau may have caught each other's eye – but with the arrival of a familiar face on a night out, will their sparks fizzle before anything has even begun?!

And that's not the only potential love triangle! Sophie's head-over-high-heels for her new man in the outside world, but will she have her head turned when she's reunited with Alex? We'd say it's a Shore thing!

Premieres 7am Wednesday April 10 (encore 9.30pm) on MTV

THE BOLD TYPE

THE SCARLET MAG
GALS ARE BACK!

► II WHAT: We last left the ladies in Paris, but in the Season Three premiere they're back in New York City where Jane, Kat and Sutton are all dealing with the aftermath of some major decisions.

And things are only set to get trickier... A shake-up at Scarlet magazine sees some new staffers come on board – and they're bound to ruffle some feathers!

Premieres Wednesday April 10 on Stan

Keep up!

hayu is the place to watch your favourite reality TV shows whenever and wherever you want.

KEEPING UP WITH THE KARDASHIANS BRAND NEW SEASON AVAILABLE TO STREAM AND DOWNLOAD ON HAYU FROM 1ST APRIL SAME DAY AS THE U.S.

It's been 12 chaotic years and 16 extravagant seasons since the Kardashian clan first arrived into our lives, and if you think you've seen it all – guess again. Ahead of the new season of Keeping Up With the Kardashians, we've recapped the most iconic moments from the first family of Calabasas.

1. KIM LOSES HER DIAMOND EARRINGS

It was the moment that spurred a million memes and potentially the end for Kim and her ex-husband Kris Humphries after Kim lost her $75,000 diamond earrings while holidaying in Bora Bora. After Kris threw Kim into the ocean she realised she was missing one-half of the luxe accessories and while it wasn't funny for Kim at the time, the incident saw her self-titled 'ugly-cry' out in full force. Thankfully, Kim was met with a more level-headed Kris Jenner, who simply explained, 'That's what insurance is for, sweetie'.

2. KHLOE HEADS TO JAIL

Queen of the one-liners, Kris Jenner's "Kim, would you stop taking pictures of yourself?

Your sister's going to jail," will officially go down in history. This family has never been short on controversy, but in 2007 Kim took the family's outlandishness one step further when she couldn't resist snapping selfies, all while Khloe was heading to jail for violating a DUI probation.

3. KYLIE HIDES HER BOMBSHELL PREGNANCY

The make-up mogul was MIA for almost all of the last season – but the girl had good reasons... she was pregnant! After going underground for almost a year, fans were left wondering where Kylie had been, and in an 11-minute tell-all video the 21-year-old announced that she and boyfriend Travis Scott were having a baby girl.

4. WHEN KRIS HAD AN ALLERGIC REACTION ON HOLIDAY

No drama is ever too big (or in this case inflated) for Kris Jenner, but in yet another hilarious holiday mishap the momager was left red-faced when a food allergy left her lips larger than life. The mother-of-six resembled Donald Duck after waking up after from an afternoon siesta, leaving her daughters in stitches!

5. KHLOE'S DEVASTATING NEWS DAYS BEFORE HER DUE DATE

Forced to live up to her title as the toughest Kardashian on the block, Khloe left us all in tears when she gave birth to her adorable baby True, amidst rumours her baby-daddy, Tristan Thompson, was cheating on her!

Love reality TV? Keep up with hayu

Out of rehab and back on the stage, the Countess is raring to go!

RHONY's Luann:

'I WANT J-LAW' JOIN THE C

Life is a cabaret, old chum! Well, it certainly is for the Countess...

The last two years of Luann de Lesseps' life have been something out of a soap opera – or, um, a reality show! There was the disastrous eight-month marriage to Tom D'Agostino which ended in divorce in 2017, then she dodged a jail stint last July following her arrest in December 2017 for disorderly intoxication and assaulting an officer, before she took two trips to rehab and was sued by her kids. Gulp!

"These last couple of years have been very trying for me," the 53-year-old Real Housewives Of New York City star tells NW. "So that's never easy but you've just got to roll with the punches as well as the good times." And the "Countess" says things are only on the up now. Not only has Season 11 of RHONY just returned to our screens ("We're not short on drama, are we?" jokes the star), but she's sober, on good terms with her children again, touring her sell-out cabaret show #CountessAndFriends and working on a brand new dance single. Oh, she's also trying to convince Jennifer Lawrence to become a Housewife!

Your co-star Bethenny Frankel has been supporting you on your sober journey – have you been supporting her while she's been going through her custody battle with her ex, Jason Hoppy? Yeah, I check in with her. It's been a constant ongoing thing for her for many years, this battle with the ex. Were you angry when she and your other friends staged an intervention and shipped you back to rehab in July last year?

No, I was not angry. I was very upset at what was happening in my life at that moment and I relapsed. I like rehab! Where else can you go and spend that quality time on yourself?! Are you hoping to go back to rehab then? No, no, no. I'm good. I'm on a tour with my cabaret show, I hope to come to Australia!

Do you think keeping busy with the show and Housewives is helping you stay sober? Yes, it's a really creative outlet and it keeps me busy and out of trouble. [Laughs].

Did you worry you'd lose your Housewives gig over your legal dramas? [Long pause]. Sure! It's difficult. Although, it's very dramatic, so for Housewives I guess it's a good thing.

Things are currently frosty between you and your co-star Dorinda Medley. Do you think you'll ever be friends again? We're working on [that], you'll see that this season.

Your kids Victoria and Noel sued you in July over money – are you in a better place now? Yes, we are. My kids and I are fine. I ended up keeping my house in the Hamptons and that was what was really the problem for them, so everything worked out. I'm actually having dinner

WTO AST!

'What do you say, Jen?'

Luann is keen to recruit the actress for the show!

with my daughter tonight and I just met my son for lunch.

Do they ever tell you they wish their mum wasn't a reality star?

They get it. They came to see me on stage during my cabaret show and they've never seen me perform like that, so I think they're proud of me. And I hope I inspire them because, hey, it's not about how you fall, it's about how you get back up.

Has your divorce from Tom turned you off marrying again?

[Laughs]. I'm not in a big hurry to get married again, that's for sure. But I'm a hopeless romantic. I believe in love, so never say never.

There must be pressure to look a certain way as a Housewife – is it a prerequisite to get Botox and fillers?

Well, you know, I think there's pressure to look good period, without being on camera. I like to look good and take preventative measures to stay young-looking and fresh, I'm not opposed to that.

Would you do a face lift one day if you need to? Well, you know, darling, not yet! I do everything I can to avoid it. [Laughs].

Which of your fellow co-stars has had the most work done?

Darling, if I told you that, I wouldn't be on Season 11!

If you could have any celeb join the cast, who would it be?

Jennifer Lawrence! She's such a big fan of the show and she knows everything – she

The countess says her friendship with Dorinda (third from right) is still a work in progress knows all the fights that have happened, she knows everything that's going down with every one of us. It's pretty funny.

If you could be in any other franchise, which one would you pick? Probably Beverly Hills.

Lisa Rinna's a friend of mine, and so are Lisa Vanderpump and Denise Richards. I know them all, so that would work the best for me, 'cause I'd have fun doing it.

Have you been sticking to your probation requirements? It was reported last month that you weren't...

Yes, I have! What was written by the paper wasn't what I have done, it was what [community service] I haven't done! I still have five months to go, so that wasn't a fair report.

Congrats on your cabaret shows. Are you thinking about doing an album?

I'm doing another dance single that's coming out and you know, who knows, maybe a Christmas album?! That would be fun! Christmas with the Countess!

The Real Housewives Of New York City Season 11 streaming now on hayu and Foxtel, same day as the US. New episodes each Thursday.

Housewives ca$h crises!

From riches to rags! Real Housewives Lisa Vanderpump, Dorit Kemsley, Erika Jayne and Kyle Richards lead lavish lifestyles in front of the cameras, but behind closed doors, they're hiding mounting debt and financial hardship.

Having declared bankruptcy before, Dorit's husband, Paul "PK" Kemsley, 51, is once again struggling to make ends meet, owing $2.4 million to a Las Vegas casino and $1.7 million to the IRS. "He's being chased down for money," says a spy, while Dorit, 42, "spends like it's going out of fashion!" Erika's spouse, Thomas Girardi, 79, was slapped with a $21 million lawsuit for allegedly refusing to repay a huge loan. The aspiring pop star, 47, "is trying to brush it off", says the insider. "But she would be devastated if Thomas lost his fortune."

Kyle's other half, Mauricio Umansky, 48, meanwhile, was accused of real estate fraud over the sale of a $45 million Malibu mansion. The reality star, 50, "has been through enough family drama to last her a lifetime", admits the spy. "And being dragged to court is the last thing she needs." Even LVP, 58, "isn't immune", says the insider.

Indeed, her restaurants were hit with a string of liens – one for over $2.1 million and, more recently, $51,000. Yikes!

YEP, WE SEE YOU!

Ben flashes his ball!

WHERE California

WHAT Ben Affleck has perfect pitch – or at least he does when he takes over the pitching machine at his son Samuel's Little League game. And judging by this photo, he's got a lot of balls in the air at once. Phew!

Tom does a shoey

WHERE Los Angeles

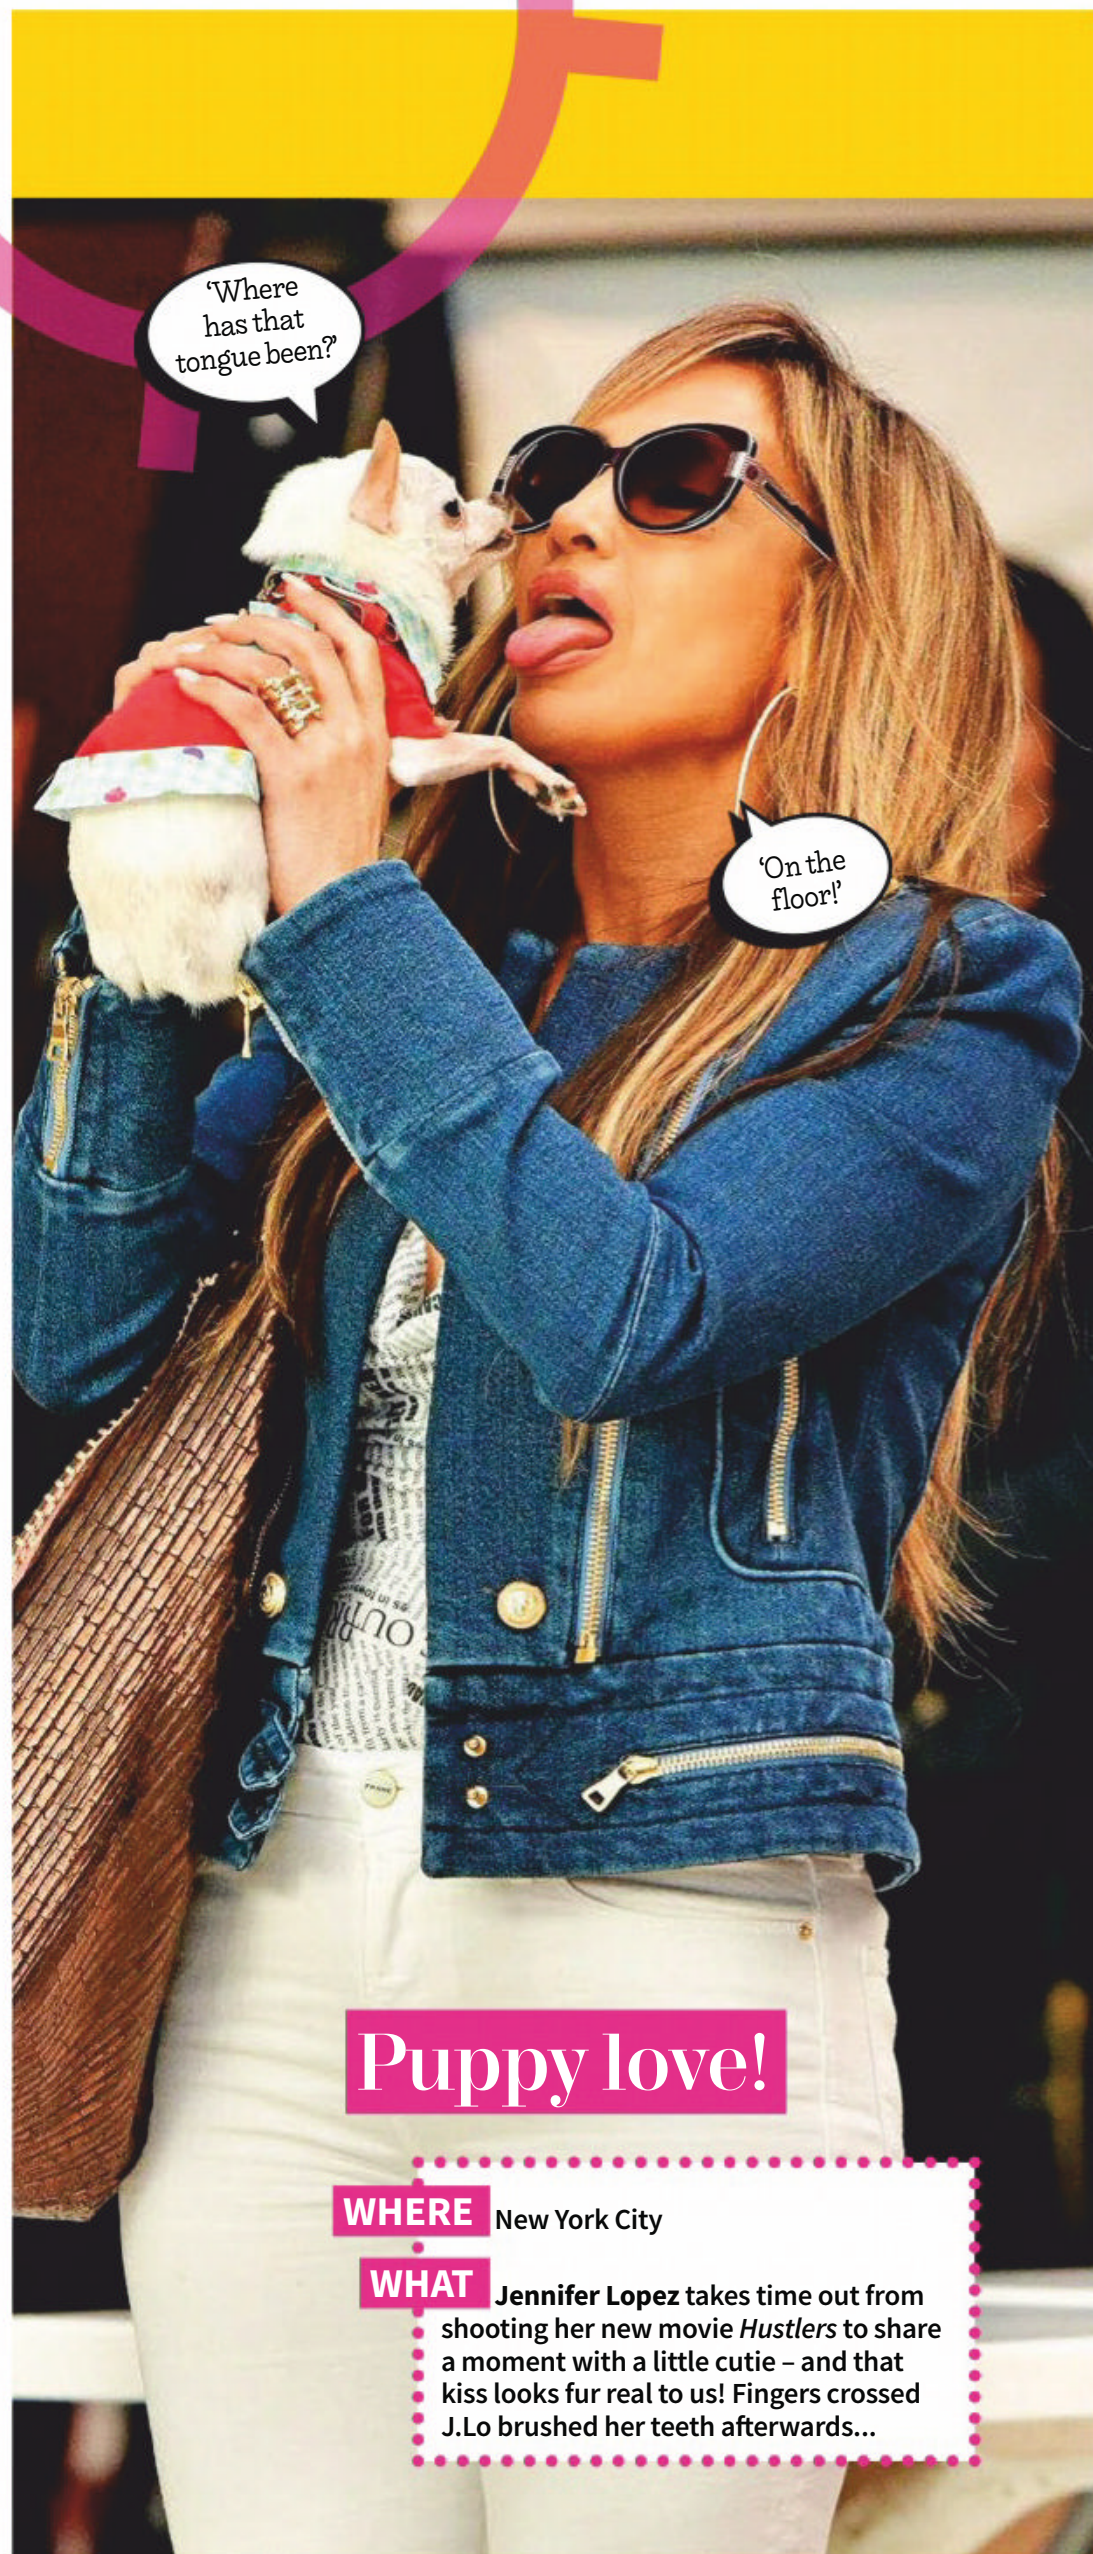

WHAT Here you go, Tom Hanks – have a drink on us! The star is playing iconic kids' TV presenter Mister Rogers in the upcoming film A Beautiful Day In The Neighborhood, but seems to have stopped mid-scene for an old-fashioned shoey!

Selfie- interested!

WHERE Los Angeles

WHAT While Nicky Hilton is busy raising her daughter Lily Grace, her sister Paris is busy raising her selfie count. Priorities, right Paris?!

Puppy love!

WHERE New York City

WHAT Jennifer Lopez takes time out from shooting her new movie Hustlers to share a moment with a little cutie – and that kiss looks fur real to us! Fingers crossed J.Lo brushed her teeth afterwards...

We found the Loch Ness monster!

WHERE London

WHAT Benedict Cumberbatch takes a cold-water dip to help support Mental Health programmes as part of Comic Relief's Red Nose Day – and we think he's got more than a touch of old Nessie about him. We hope his Benedict didn't drop off!

J-Law & Adele GIRLS GONE WILD!

KATY'S THIRSTY FOR ORLY!

Orly was asking for it by posting these hot pics!

Katy Perry's clearly frothing over her fiancé – and she's going insane on Insta to prove it!

The singer started spamming Orlando Bloom's comments section after he posted a series of sexy snaps. "I have a fever," she gushed in one, prompting a fan to tell her to "go to hospital". LOL! Girl's just love sick!

Woohoo! The celeb besties hit the town to toast Jen's new bling Party pals Jennifer Lawrence and Adele went to, um, pieces at NYC gay bar Pieces on March 22, where the pair played musical shots with a drag queen. But the night was anything but a drag! The ladies were on a mission to let loose as they celebrated J-Law's recent engagement to Cooke Maroney. Invite us next time please!

Rumour has it J-Law tackled Adele after she lost a drinking game. Err, this isn't the hunger games, babe!

'She's fing engaged!' Adele screamed to the crowd after jumping on stage

Way to make us feel old! Cali and Noelle Sheldon – AKA the twins who played Rachel and Ross's daughter Emma on Friends – are now 16 and starring in the thriller Us. And we might be seeing a lot more of the girls, as they say they've caught the acting bug after appearing in the creepy flick! "It was a really cool experience," gushes Noelle.

They once acted alongside Jen Aniston but the twins say they still get 'star struck'

Hey, who doesn't love a boost from those magic beans?! And Jennifer Garner's clearly crazy for her morning cappuccino (or ten!). But the actress looks like she's on more than your average caffeine high while doing the school run – could she be slipping a little extra something into her morning brew? Well, with three kids to get out the door we wouldn't blame her!

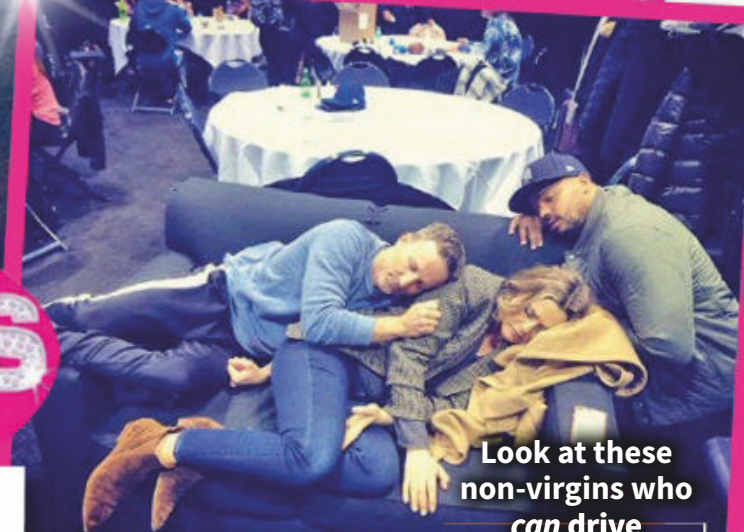

Nice to see Alicia's still rollin' with her homies!

24 YEARS ON

Clueless

CAST REUNITE!

Look at these non-virgins who can drive

Clueless stars Alicia Silverstone, Paul Rudd, Donald Faison and Breckin Meyer caught up for a reunion at the Chicago Comic and Entertainment Expo and we're totally buggin' over it!

"It was such a fun character and working with these guys was so much fun," gushed Alicia, who was looking like a total Betty of course! C'mon guys - time to get that sequel happening!

Hailey's

BEACH LOOK ROX!

Hailey Bieber's making a serious splash in her sexy campaign for Roxy's new Sister collection. Babe alert!

"It was fun," says Hails of working with her surfer bestie Kelia Moniz on the collaboration, which is already, um, making waves. "It was just easy, it makes the job not feel like a job."

Well, nice work if you can get it...

LISA GETS BUSY ON THE D-FLOOR

Lisa Rinna and Busy Philipps were the bunny dancing emojis brought to life as they twinned their way through a segment on E!'s Busy Tonight. And while The Real Housewives Of Beverly Hills star likes to sex it up on Insta with her sultry dance moves, she, ahem, tapped into the old jazz hands for her jive with Busy!

DEBRA MESSING

25 things you don't know about me

The Will & Grace star graces us with a few of her factoids...

1 I love gadgets, but my energy makes them malfunction. My IT expert confirmed that it's a rare but real thing, and it's the bane of my existence.

2 I don't know what my natural hair colour is! It was always changing!

3 My happy place is Africa.

4 I grew up in rural Rhode Island and ran next door to watch horses give birth.

5 I want to study photography.

6 My mother was a teenage recording artist. She was part of an all-girls quartet called the Brooktones and recorded next to Carole King.

7 If I wasn't an actress, I would be a litigator.

8 I had never seen an eyelash curler until I moved to LA when I was 25-years-old.

9 I'm scared of the ocean.

10 I was a cheerleader in junior high. I was bad.

11 My favourite flower is a white orchid because I'm allergic to everything else.

12 My second happiest place is at a Broadway musical.

13 My dream is to be a guest jewellery editor at a national fashion magazine.

14 My favourite colour is red.

15 I grew up an avid skier.

16 My son Roman, 14 [with ex Daniel Zelman, 51], is named after my theatre professor from NYU, who passed away from AIDS. He's why I got into advocacy and activism to eradicate AIDS.

17 My brother once ran for state representative. I knocked on doors across the state.

18 My father was VP of a jewellery manufacturing company. One summer I worked the line doing piecework, just like the I Love Lucy episode when she's on the assembly line with chocolate.

19 I took a circus class in graduate school and learned how to do the trapeze.

20 I much prefer being sent a big balloon bouquet than a bottle of champagne.

21 After my second year of graduate school, I came home to make money for school. I got a job as a cocktail waitress and fell down a flight of stairs, broke my ankle and spent the rest of the summer on the couch.

22 I wanted to join the Peace Corps if I didn't get into graduate school.

23 I have an obsession with notebooks and broad-tipped fountain pens.

24 I took pole dancing lessons for my role as an aquatic Vegas show girl in the [2007] film Lucky You. My character lip-synched and "danced" underwater.

25 I think people who run dog rescues are living angels on earth.
